REFORM CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, October 19, 1871.

UNPRECEDENTED PROCEEDING.

Fisk, Jr., has procured an injunction from Judge Pratt, of Brooklyn, prohibiting the use in any way of certain letters and papers possessed by Helen Josephine Mansfield, which were written by Fisk, Jr., and the publication of which, he says, would expose him to public criticism and scandal. A receiver was appointed to take charge of the papers. The power which is sought to be exercised by the order of Pratt is almost unprecedented in such a crisis.

THE YACHT RACE.

The trial race for the American cup to-day was over the New York Yacht Club course. The Columbia was selected and was sailed by a new captain. The signal to start was given at 1:23. The Livonia was promptly off. The Columbia not being fully under way, had to tack twice to get a good starting position. The Livonia was by this time a mile ahead. In rounding the buoy at the southwest spit the Columbia lost her jib stay sail. At 3:20½ the Livonia rounded the light ship. The Columbia was 4¼ minutes behind. Here the latter lost the clew of the fore sail, and had the fore gaff top sail split, while the main sail had to be lowered twice in consequence of an accident to her patent steering apparatus. The Livonia reached the home stake boat at 5:18, and the Columbia at 5:37:38. Actual time Livonia, 3:53:05; corrected time 4:02:25. Actual time Columbia, 4:12:38; corrected time 4:17:35. Wind west southwest. It is claimed that the Columbia lost fifteen minutes by the accident to her steering gear.

TAMMANY AFFAIRS.

The Tammany political circles are very much excited over the fact that Charles O'Connor intends to begin in earnest the prosecution of the Ring thieves. Mr. O'Connor will not affiliate with any political clique. The prospect of speedy punishment to the guilty parties is good.

The owners of property on Broome street propose widening that street. The assessment is regarded as a Tammany scheme.

There are rumors that Hall and Sweeny are ready to make important concessions. The reform party are anxious to drop Tweed.

Ex-Marshal Robert Murray publishes a card to-day, stating that he is ready to substantiate in Court the charges made against Collector Murphy.

Deputy Controller Green charges the Bank Department with gross extravagance.

The Tammany clique have made the Park appropriations a great source of corruption.

REFORM DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The county convention of delegates of the reform Democracy was held at Apollo Hall to-night, Samuel G. Courtney presiding. About four hundred delegates were present. W. W. Curtis warned the meeting that Tammany intended frauds at the elections, and said the only remedy was to execute summary justice by suspending repeaters or fraudulent inspectors from lamp posts, and he believed the law would protect the citizens in so doing. The following nominations were made: For Judge of Supreme Court, ex-Judge George C. Barret; for Judge of Common Pleas, Judge Charles F. Daly; for Registrar General, Franz Sigel.

INSURANCE CONVENTION.

The Insurance Convention to-day listened to a long discourse by W. Barnes on a uniform standard of mortality in the interest of life insurance.

At the Insurance Convention this afternoon, a resolution was adopted to memorialize Congress to exempt life policies from the action of the bankrupt act. A committee of three was appointed to report the best method of winding up insolvent companies.

Adjourned.

APPEAL FOR AID.

J. E. Zimmerman, Vice Consul General of the Netherlands for the United States, appeals for contributions for the suffering community of Hollanders in Michigan.

At a meeting of the members of the Produce Exchange, this afternoon, a committee was appointed to raise funds for the Michigan and Wisconsin sufferers.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

Geo. H. Brown, Jr., the telegraphic operator who has been sending the Western Press reports for the past year with so much promptness and care, is about to leave the profession and engage in mercantile pursuits in the South. His successor will be R. J. Williams, of this city.

SUSPENDED.

The Lorillard Insurance Company was compelled to suspend by reason of its losses by the Chicago fire. The assets of this company are $1,750,000, and its liabilities are unknown. The Atlantic and Manhattan companies have also suspended.

POLITICAL.

The political parties are busy nominating their candidates for the next election. In the Seventh District James O'Brien has been nominated for Senator by the Reformers. Tammany has renominated all the old candidates.

SUPPORT OF CHARITIES.

Comptroller Green requests the Mayor to convene the Board of Apportionment for the purpose of appropriating from the excise fund for the support of charitable institutions.

FUNDS FOR PARK LABORERS.

Deputy Collector Green yesterday handed one hundred thousand dollars to the Department of Parks for the purpose of paying off the laborers.

TAMMANY NOMINATIONS.

Tammany made nominations for the State Senate to-night, including Wm. M. Tweed, Michael Norton, John J. Bradley and Henry W. Lenet.

LECTURE ON CHICAGO.

Rev. Wm. A. Bartlett, of Chicago, will speak on Saturday night at Cooper Institute, on the calamity, how it has left the people, and what of the future.

AID FOR CHICAGO.

Handyside and Henderson, of Glasgow, Scotland, direct their house here to pay five thousand pounds to the Chicago sufferers.

FUNDS ASKED.

Deputy Comptroller Green asks for a meeting of the Board of Apportionment to provide funds for the support of reformatory institutions.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.

An injunction has been granted against the Irving Insurance Company, and N. J. Crow has been appointed receiver.

THE GERMANS AND TAMMANY.

One thousand German real estate owners formed an anti-Tammany association last evening.

AID FOR CHICAGO.

The agents of the Anchor Line of steamers have been instructed to pay five thousand pounds sterling to the Chicago fund.

RESIGNED.

Wm. M. Fliess, having been drawn on the Grand Jury, has resigned as a member of the Committee of Seventy.

RUMORED DEFALCATION.

A rumor is current on the street that a four hundred thousand dollar defalcation has been discovered in Philadelphia.

SANITARY.

The Sanitary Committee of the Board of Health reported against allowing any cargoes of rags from countries where cholera prevails, to be landed without disinfection.

LIBERALITY OF CANADA.

The city council of Montreal voted $50,000 for Chicago yesterday, making over $100,000 in the aggregate.

CLEANING STREETS.

The contractor for cleaning streets presented a bill to the city for $142,000 for work from September 1st to October 16th.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

J. Dago, a conductor, was crushed to death at the railroad depot last night.

BALTIMORE.

The Episcopal Convention.

BALTIMORE, October 19.—The Committee on Canons reported that it was inexpedient to amend the canon in relation to marriage and divorce, and that it was also inexpedient to create the office of suffragan Bishop. The minority report favors the new canon on the latter subject. Both were tabled.

Rev. Dr. Mead, of Connecticut, from the joint committee on Ritual, reported a canon recognising, on the part of this church, no other law of ritual than it has itself accepted and provided, viz:

First—Book of Common Prayer, with offices and ordinal appended as constitutionally amended.

Second—Canons of the Church of England in use in the American provinces before 1789, and not subsequently suspended; altered or repealed by general or diocesan legislation.

Third—Canonical or other legislative or judicial actions or decisions of this church in its conventions, general or diocesan, or by duly constitutional authorities, Provided, that in all questions arising concerning ritual observance, the administration of law appertains to the ordinary whose decision will be held as a settlement of the question, except that contradictory decisions shall be subject to a revision by the House of Bishops.

A resolution was also presented providing for a joint committee of three bishops, three presbyters and three laymen, to report to the next general convention what portions of the canons of the Church of England of 1603 were in use in the American provinces in 1789, how they have been modified or repealed and whether any portion requires such action.

An amendment was offered that the above canon shall not go into operation until after said report is acted upon by the General Convention. The whole subject was assigned for to-morrow. The canon is understood to have been written by Bishop Whittingham, and was adopted by the entire joint committee.

A message was received from the House of Bishops that they had amended canon 5 by further provisions relative to organization and discipline of the churches or congregations, had adopted the New York Bible Society's edition of the Common Prayer Book as the standard edition, and provided for the custody of the stereotype plate thereof, had also adopted a resolution that a fund for the relief of widows and orphans of deceased clergymen, and aged, infirm or disabled clergymen, be recommended to the generous sympathy of the whole Church, and naming the Bishop of Delaware, Bishop of Easton, Rev. Henry C. Potter, Rev. Morgan Dix, Mr. James F. Depeyster, Stephen P. Nash and Wm. Alexander Smith as trustees of the fund for three years ensuing.

Dr. Paddock, from the Committee on Canons, submitted a report with an amendment to Canon 21, Title 1, so as to prevent the alienation of church buildings and grounds to parties or corporate congregations, which are no longer in accordance with the doctrine, discipline or worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church. This amendment grows out of the Cheney matter at Chicago.

Dr. Haight, of New York, presented the report of Rev. R. G. Nevin, Rector of Grace church, Rome, Italy, in which he sets forth the disadvantages of congregations worshiping in foreign countries, and asks that such legislation be made by the General Convention as will give to these congregations parochial rights and bring them into closer relation with the church at home, and requests that they be allowed representation in the General Convention.

Resolutions providing for the holding of evening sessions were adopted; also a resolution that after Saturday no new subject be entertained by this house.

The order of the day, the amended canon relating to the admission of persons and candidates for holy orders, was taken up and discussed until nearly four o'clock, when an adjournment took place.

COLLECTORS SENTENCED.

Richard N. Bowerman and Thos. J. Wilson, Ex-deputy Collectors, were sentenced to-day, the former to four years, imprisonment and to pay two thousand dollars fine, and the latter to three years' imprisonment and pay a fine of three thousand dollars.

CHCAGO.

Business in the City.

CHICAGO, October 19.—Business in the city has assumed a tangible character to-day on Wabash and Michigan avenues. The express companies are bringing immense shipments of new goods to the city, and the freight lines are equally busy. What was said yesterday about the banks may be repeated to-day. They are paying out or receiving deposits according to the wishes of their customers. The savings banks are paying on demand all amounts of twenty dollars and under.

THE CANAL LIEN.

The Illinois Senate to-day passed the bill which had previously been passed by the House, that the State assume the lien held by Chicago on the Illinois and Michigan Canal. This gives Chicago three millions of dollars which the city had expended in deepening the canal.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

The Green Bay (Wisconsin) Advocate learns from a reliable source that the loss of the Peshtego Company, by the recent fire in the lumber region, was $360,000, with an insurance of upwards of $100,000. The loss of the same company in Chicago was large. It is asserted on good authority that they will pay every cent of their liabilities. The loss of Cyrus H. McCormick by the fire is about three quarters of a million, but he will at once commence re-building his reaper factory and warehouses.

A GENEROUS OFFER.

Judge W. W. Farwell sent a communication to the Board of Trade to-day, in which he proposed to erect a building on the southwest corner of Market and Washington streets, with a room in it ninety by ninety feet, which he gives to the Board rent free. The directors of the Board accepted the offer of Judge Farwell, and the building will be ready for occupancy within forty days.

AID FROM SCOTLAND.

Jas. Warrack, of this city, paid over to Mayor Mason to-day $25,000, a subscription from Glasgow, Scotland, through Henderson Brothers, agents of the Anchor Line of steamers in New York.

WHEELING.

Army Reunion.

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 19.—A large number of soldiers assembled to-day on the occasion of the second reunion of the Society of the Army of West Virginia. The procession contained two bands, a large drum corps and battle flags. Numerous regiments were sent from the Capital. Governor B. Stanton delivered a reception speech on behalf of the city, and Capt. R. H. Cochran, of this city, who served in the Army of the Cumberland, delivered the welcoming oration on behalf of the society. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and a large membership secured. Strong speeches were made by Lieut. Clarkson, Hon. William Lawrence, of Ohio, and others. The city was gaily decorated with flags. Letters from all prominent Generals of the army and President Grant will be read to-morrow, it being the gala day of the reunion.

NEW JERSEY.

The Bott's Trial.

NEWARK, N. J., October 19.—The testimony in the Botts trial closed at noon. Spencer summed up for the defence, contending that the prisoner did not deliberately premeditate murder; that he was irresponsible, and frenzied by love and jealously; that the pistol was accidentally discharged in the scuffle with Halstead, who was criminally connected with Mrs. Wilson, and more responsible for his own death than Botts. The court then adjourned till to-morrow.

SOUTH AMERICA.

SLAVES TO BE FREED.

NEW YORK, October 19.—Late files of Brazilian journals contain the following facts concerning the recent legislative action in Brazil: One of the bills which met with the greatest opposition appropriated eight million dollars to be used to free about one million and a half of the slaves. The ground of the opposition was the fact that this sum of money was too small, one of the senators saying that by this bill only 10,000 slaves per annum could be freed. The bill, as finally passed, appropriates a much larger sum, while the pay for each slave is put at a very low figure. By this plan emancipation will be gradual. Only children born after the passage of the act on the 27th of last month are to be at once liberated. It is thought that the whole number of slaves in the empire will not exceed one million and a half. The majority of these are in the southern part of the country.

The sugar interest will not suffer from the change. It is doubtful about the results in the coffee regions, where slaves are more numerous. As the Emperor favors emancipation, the passage of the bill by the legislative branches of the government practically delivers Brazil from the evils of slavery.

FRANCE.

HONORABLY ACQUITTED.

PARIS, October 19.—Victor Place has been honorably acquitted of the charges of fraud in purchasing arms while Consul at New York.

ON THE ALERT.

The Government directs that the military and naval forces be on the alert for Bonaparte disturbances, which are feared.

COMMUNIST TRIALS.

The court martial for the trial of Communists sentenced ninety-one and acquitted nine thousand.

AID FOR CHICAGO.

PARIS, October 19.—The amount contributed for the relief of Chicago by Americans in Paris is 131,035 francs.

PERSIA.

FAMINE AND PESTILENCE.

LONDON, October 19.—Late advices from Teheran show that Persia is still suffering from famine and pestilence.

INSURRECTION.

A formidable insurrection has broken out in various quarters. The government troops have been driven from Shiraz, the capital town, which is now held by the rebels.

WEST INDIES.

OCEAN CABLE.

HAVANA, October 19.—Advices from Kingston, Jamaica, 19th, report that the Demerara telegraph cable is laid.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR CUBA.

The steamer Mendez Nunez, from Cadiz, brings Senor Romeraldo Crespo de la Guerra, second Governor of Cuba and family, and six hundred troops.

GERMANY.

TREATY APPROVED.

BERLIN, October 19.—The Emperor has approved the treaty with France, and the ratifications will be formally exchanged on Saturday.

PARLIAMENT ORGANIZED.

Parliament to-day effected an organization. Herr Sinison was re-elected President.

BY MAIL.

THE COUNT DE CHAMBORD'S (Henri V.'s) fifty-first birthday was celebrated on the 29th of September by most of the wealthy legitimist families of France. The demonstrations were specially cordial along the Loire.

THE Record announces the death of the authoress of the well known hymns, "Just as I am," "My God, my Father, while I stray." She was sister of the author of "Horæ Apocalypticæ," and of the Rev. Henry Elliott, and was related on her mother's side to the Venn family.

A FORTNIGHT ago an American vessel arrived at Limerick, and the captain, in discharging the cargo, employed his own men, thereby dispensing with the services of dock laborers. On Tuesday night, October 3, the hawser of the ship was cut in several places.

A NEW journal has been started in England in the tobacco interest, not as the organ of the trade, like our own Tobacco Leaf, but devoted to the literature of smoking. It will discuss all matters connected with that habit, from the coloring of a meerschaum to the proper method of wrapping a cigarette.

ACCORDING to the Limerick Chronicle the sea-serpent has appeared to the bathers at the Irish watering-place of Kilkee. It raised its head out of the water as usual, and looked blandly at the ladies, who "nearly fainted." It was probably a female sea-serpent, as it wore a chignon of seaweed-looking hair, which rose and fell with the motion of the water.

DESPITE the revolutionary troubles and the reports of planters and speculators to the contrary, the sugar crop in Cuba this season promises to be a very large one. Labor has been plenty in all departments except that of the west, where Valmaseda went to arrange matters, and it is estimated that from fifteen to forty per cent. more acreage is under cane this year than last.

AN indignant "Barrister" writes to the Times that in spite of the oratorical flourish of Curran about the shackles falling from the slave the moment he touches British soil, etc., etc., the slave trafic between Tripoli and Constantinople, through the intermediate port of Malta, still goes on. The "Barrister" saw five or six young female slaves at Malta on their way to Constantinople as a present to a Pasha.

A FRIGHTFUL accident happened in Brussels on the 8d of October, in the Rue Brederode, in one of the houses opposite to the royal palace. The Chevalier du Bois de Bianco, a wealthy Belgian proprietor, was found by his servants dead and nearly carbonized in his bed, while the room itself was in flames. The sad accident is attributed to the deceased's habit of going to bed with a lighted cigar in his mouth. Probably sleep overtook him before he had finished it, and after falling from his mouth it communicated the fire to the bedding.

PUNJEEB, the eldest son of the Maharajah of Lahore, has just died in Paris, of hunger, in a lodging-house of the Rue de Vaugirard. This prince left his native country about fifty years ago in consequence of a serious offense against his father, one of whose wives he had seduced, and since that time he has led a miserable existence in the French capital. He was well known by sight to the neighbors, but the landlord alone could tell his history. He spoke rarely, and adopted the European costume only a few years ago.

THE UNITED STATES

As Seen Through European Spectacles in the Light of Tammany.

The leading journals of continental Europe have devoted considerable attention to the Tammany frauds in New York, but none have more to say than the organs of the reactionary party. The comments of some of these are instructive.

From the Berlin Kreuz Zeitung.

"There is so much rottenness in the management of financial affairs in the United States that lovers of an honest government have long since begun to look with contempt upon that unwieldy and motley conglomeration of common wealths called by deluded liberal enthusiasts "the great republic." The attention of these enthusiasts is hereby called to the astounding developments concerning the immense peculations of certain high functionaries in New York city, which we publish in another column. These functionaries have defrauded the city not of hundreds of thousands, but of many millions of dollars. Almost the entire press of the city calls these high-stationed officials plunderers and thieves, and imperiously demands that they should give an account of their doings, but these parties treat that demand with contempt, because they are backed up by an immense mob, which enables them to carry all the elections.

"This subject furnishes to all sagacious men food for reflection, and the inference is easily arrived at. Let us commend it especially to the ranters in our Chamber, who are always ready to draw unpleasant parallels between our country and the United States. Let them also bear in mind the immense peculations committed in France under the mob government presided over by Lawyer Gambetta."

[From the Augsburger Post-Zeitung.]

"The laws of the American republic are such as to render the deserved punishment of these men (the Tammany plunderers) a matter of considerable difficulty—nay, almost an impossibility; the more so as the judges are all politicians, and elected by the ignorant rabble. So the plunderers seem entirely unconcerned at their fate, and defy the honest part of the community. The whole thing is sickening. Let us thank God that it could never happen under our institutions.

[From the Vienna Vaterland.]

"How do the Neue Freie Presse and its followers relish these disclosures? What a lively state of affairs in the best, nay, the only true republic. We suppose the most rabid Prussian could not wish poor France a worse fate than to imitate American institutions in every particular. From what we can gather from American letters, New York has been plundered more mercilessly by her chosen leaders than Paris was by the greedy robbers of the Commune."

The Paris Gaulois seems to have special information about the Tammany frauds. It estimates the whole amount that was embezzeled at several hundred millions of dollars, and comments on the subject in a manner decidedly hostile to republican institutions.

The Pesth Lloyd says "that for a long time past it has been disgusted with American affairs. Honest functionaries there are a rarity. High and low both seem to be equally intent upon filling their pockets from the public treasury, principally to have money enough to purchase voters for a re election."

ROTHERMEL'S BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG.

How the Great Picture Was Saved.

The following correspondence needs no explanation:

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune:

SIR: Many reports have been circulated through the press in regard to the fate of Rothermel's picture, but they have all been so foreign, one to the other, that, as yet, little light has been thrown upon the subject, and the public is undecided as to whether it is saved at all. I am aware that you have not room in your columns for a long story, so I will state the facts in as few words as possible. The picture is safe and in my possession, and I am now waiting to meet Rothermel. I superintended the whole matter, and took every precaution to have the picture removed without injury, and would add, that the picture was not cut from the stretcher, neither torn into strips and carried from the building, as have been published in some other papers, but was carefully rolled up and carried from the building to the lake shore, where I guarded it, at the peril of my life, from the cinders and plundering mobs; covering my face and hands with wet clothes to protect myself from being overcome by the heat. The falling of the cinders was terrible. The drapery wrapped around the picture to protect it was entirely consumed by the fire caused by falling cinders. I am happy to inform you that the picture received no injury at all, except a small rent in the canvass which can be easily repaired.

I also rejoice in the possession of all the other pictures in the Academy of Design gallery that were of any account. Mr. W. H. Downing, with whom I shared a part of my studio in the Academy, stood by me in this emergency from beginning to end; and, while I guarded the large picture on the lake shore, at the foot of Adams street, he guarded the others; and, between us, we succeeded in saving all the pictures of any value.

Rothermel's Gettysburg will have a greater reputation now than ever, and thousands more will be eager to see it. It will soon be removed to the State Capitol of Pennsylvania, and the nation will rejoice that the greatest and grandest of all its art treasures is safe.

Yours truly,
F. L. ROCKWELL.

The Famous Auctioneer.

The most efficient auctioneer that ever lived probably, was George Robins, of London, who flourished about thirty or forty years ago. His advertisements were marvelous pieces of composition, which none of his successors in the same business have ever succeeded in imitating. He was a very "Admirable Crichton," a man of universal knowledge, never at a loss and with a power of magnifying the good qualities of the wares he was selling, such as no auctioneer, before or since his day, has ever possessed. It was a literary treat to see and hear him sell a library, but the place best fitted for the display of his abilities was the sale of a fine country house.

In 1820, the magnificent Fonthill Abbey, owned by the brilliant Beckford, came to the hammer. That it would be knocked down for a quarter of its real value, seemed inevitable, but Robins was equal to the emergency. Taking the advantage of the great fame of Beckford, and the rumors which described the house as surpassing the grandest palaces of the East in sumptuous elegance, he announced that no one would be admitted to view the house who did not purchase a catalogue—price, one guinea. The fashionable world felt bound to see these wonderful sights, and rushed in crowds to buy catalogues. Eighty thousand of them were sold, and people journeyed from all parts of the kingdom to feast their eyes on the marvelous Fonthill. In the height of the furore, the sale began, and lasted thirty-three days. The Abbey was knocked down for £330,000—a third more than its worth. Pictures, furniture, etc., brought fabulous sums. Raphael's Saint Catharine sold for £5,250; and the contents of the house realized the enormous sum of £1,000,000. Once Robins had to sell, among the effects of a deceased merchant, silverware amounting to over six hundred ounces. Duplicates of the pieces had been made in Sheffield ware, for daily use, and by some accident the real silver, on the first day of the sale, was knocked down as plated. The next day, the Sheffield ware being put up, its real character was at once discovered. The purchasers of the silver disappeared, and Robins promptly paid the loss out of his own pocket.—Boston Record.

Asthma Cure.

Grace Greenwood writes from Colorado: "As for confirmed asthmatics—unhappy men and women, who like shipwrecked mariners, perishing of thirst, with 'water, water everywhere'—gasp and fight for their scanty breath in the world of air—they who find it not difficult to realize the sufferings of men suffocated in mines, or the horrors of the 'black hole' of Calcutta—they who once a year at least must rehearse the death agony, yet can not die—for them, brothers and sisters in affliction,

"I wish to remark,
And my language is plain,'

that I do not believe there is out of Heaven such a place as the mountain land of Colorado. The higher I have gone thus far the better it seems for me. Even the brief dampness which here follows a storm seems not to be hurtful, so unlike is it to the harsh, raw dampness of the East and North. But when the air is perfectly dry it is to me the most buoyant and delicious. It has all the ethereal porperties of champagne, I drink in it long, deep draughts. The worst of it is it goes to my head and I do not sleep well. I have here a peculiar lightness of the brain, as well as of the spirits. This may be a temporary effect, due in great part to mental excitement. Real mountaineers are famous sleepers I believe."

PRESIDENT GRANT during his visit to Pittsburgh, confidently expressed himself much delighted to learn that Pier, Dannals & Co., were now bottling their ales and porter.

MUNICIPAL BANQUET.

Rare Enjoyment.

TOASTS AND RESPONSES.

For Home This Morning.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, October 19, 1871.

There has been no cessation of the enjoyments which have thus far marked our excursion, and nothing whatever has occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion. The health of our delegation continues good, notwithstanding the excessive wining and dining in which so many indulged. It has been quite a hard task for most of our friends to maintain that high character for temperance in all things which they preserve so well and faithfully at home, for the temptations have been very numerous and strong. However, as a whole, I am glad to tell you that our Pittsburghers nobly sustain the character of the great and moral city which they represent. They harmonize well with the Baltimoreans, and many acquaintances have been made and ripened into friendships, which, in a business point of view at least, will prove mutually advantageous. There can be no doubt but the exchange of visits between the citizens of this city and of Pittsburgh will bear good fruits, for we have at home shown our Baltimore friends what we are capable of manufacturing and doing, and now our merchants are learning what they can buy to the best advantage in the Monumental City. A merchant told me to-day that fully thirty thousand dollars worth of goods had been sold to Pittsburgh houses since our arrival. This is gratifying, inasmuch as orders from Baltimore for our home manufactures have been steadily pouring into our city since we entertained her representative citizens. As a newly wedded couple, according to the favorite simile, not original with myself, we are getting on very happily and auspiciously through the honeymoon.

SEEING SIGHTS.

Many members of our delegation visited Washington to-day and viewed the principal points of interest in that city of magnificent distances. Had the distances been less magnificent they would have seen more and had a much pleasanter trip, as it was, they had barely time to glance at the nation's proud piles, pay their compliments to a few heads of Departments, and then right about face for Baltimore, in order to be on hands for the banquet in the evening. Several who had strayed too far in their search for sights in the Capital, missed the train and were left behind to cogitate on the uncertainty of all things and to go to bed dreaming of the banquet and what might have been—had they made the train.

PLEASANT DAY.

Those who remained in Baltimore, spent a very pleasant day. Some in carriages, placed at their disposal, put in the hours by driving about the city, for Baltimore has much more to be seen than can be viewed from a hotel window. Her monuments are objects of much interest to strangers, while her grand churches, beautiful public parks, palatial houses and complete work shops afford enough material for the tourists to "do" in a days time without affording too much satisfaction or becoming tedious and tiresome to him. Many of the Pittsburghers paid their respects to our former townsman, James O'Connor, Esq., whose elegant residence is but a short drive from the city, and at his hospitable mansion they were well entertained and welcomed for "auld lang syne" sake. Others, not quite satisfied with the delightful trip of yesterday down the bay, again went out on the waters, I verily believe to get sea sick, for that experience is a good thing you know after—well, after having eaten too much. Altogether, and all around, a pleasant day was spent.

THE BANQUET.

The banquet this evening was a grand affair, far eclipsing that given by us to the Baltimoreans. Everything passed off orderly and with the precision of clock work. The hall was very handsomely decorated, and signs of hearty welcome on all sides had the tendency to sharpen the appetite and make the sumptuous meal spread out most tempting and enjoyable. Some eight hundred guests sat down at the tables. After the victuals had been disposed of in the most satisfactory manner, the meeting was organized, Mayor Banks, of Baltimore, being called upon to preside. On assuming the chair he delivered a neat, warm and eloquent address of welcome to the guests, in which he paid a generous tribute to the Iron City and her people.

SENTIMENTS.

Toasts were then offered in the following order:

The Iron City—Responded to by J. S. Slagle, Esq., City Solicitor of Pittsburgh.

Wheeling—Responded to by C. W. B. Allison, Esq., of Wheeling.

Cumberland—Responded to by H. W. Hoffman, Esq., of Cumberland.

Rail Roads—Responded to by Hon. J. W. Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Agriculture—Response by Hon. T. J. Bigham of Pittsburgh, in which he learnedly told what he knew about farming, a la Greeley.

The Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad—Responded to by B. H. Latrobe, Esq., Chief Engineer of the road.

Our Manufacturers—Responded to by W. D. Moore, Esq., of Pittsburgh.

Commerce—Responded to by Robert Kirkland Esq., of Baltimore.

The Councils of Pittsburgh—Responded to by Dr. A. H. Gross, President of the Select Council, Pittsburgh.

HAPPY AND BRIEF.

The speeches were all happy, brief and to the point. No attempt was made at oratorical display, the meeting partaking more of a business character than of a jamboree. At eleven o'clock an adjournment was made. I believe no bottles of champagne, outside of the guests, left the hall as those eight hundred guests dispersed, neither do I think that there will be many free cigars smoked after the banquet. The affair was highly creditable to the citizens of Baltimore in every respect, and nothing occurred to mar the harmony and good feeling which prevailed throughout. All had a pleasant time. All kept sober. [We don't believe the latter assertion—EDS.]

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

The following was the address of welcome by Mayor Banks to guests of Baltimore from Pittsburgh, Cumberland and Wheeling:

"We welcome you to our city. There is a fitness in Baltimore by the sea, reaching out her arms to your inland cities, and saying to them, come to us and see for yourselves the good we are capable of doing you. That good, we are persuaded, is of a dual character; like charity, it blesseth alike the giver and the receiver.

We know of your great mineral, agricultural and manufacturing powers, and we would that you should understand the strength of our commercial situation, whereby those elements of wealth can be made of larger avail to you, and to become a source of ever-increasing reciprocal prosperity to yourselves, ourselves, and the prosperity of us both.

In the practical light of this fact, Baltimore, years ago, aided to construct the avenues of trade and travel by which you have come to us. And in the recognition of the same valuable considerations, your several cities have shown a uniform sympathy, and extended natural aid as well, in promoting the prosperity of the great Baltimore and Ohio Road, and the Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington Road.

This shows that there is a community of feeling among us that makes, at once, the reason why we should seek, and will seek, to become familiar with the resources of each other; because these resources properly utilized, must develop a great active benefit for us all. In this point of view, then, it is well that you are here.

But Baltimore—let me say—has always found pleasure in extending her hospitalities to our fellow citizens from any part of the country. True to her past history, and glad now of her opportunities to claim you, from the cities of Pittsburgh Wheeling and Cumberland, with hand in hand, as friends and brethren, she bids you a cordial welcome."

The Great Western Band of our city played excellently well at the banquet, and their musical offerings elicited much praise and applause.

The excursionists will leave for their homes to-morrow (Friday.) Some will go by way of the Pennsylvania Railroad, while the majority will return by the way they came.

UTAH.

Mormon Affairs.

SALT LAKE, October 18.—Aaron Johnson, a Mormon Bishop of Springville, Utah county, was arrested this afternoon at that place by United States Marshal Patrick, under an indictment found a year ago as accessory to the murder of a prisoner, taken to Provo, and to-morrow will have a hearing before Judge Strickland, of the First District Court.

The whole time of the Court here to-day is occupied in empanneling a jury for the Hawkins case. The challenges are not yet exhausted.

A meeting of the Mormon High Council is called for to-morrow night.

MINING NEWS.

The Ogden tin mine excitement continues.

Gold bearing quartz is brought in to-day from Bingham canon, assaying over nineteen hundred dollars per ton.

ARRIVAL OF RECRUITS.

SALT LAKE, October 19.—In the case of Hawkins, the polygamiste, charged by his first wife with adultery, the jury was finaly empanneled this afternoon, and the trial commenced. Tom Fitch, for the defendent, occupied all the morning in an argument that he had the right, under the United States law, to temporary challenges, while the prosecution had only the right to two. Judge McKean, on the ground that this was a matter of the people of the United States in the territory of Utah, and not the United States, decided against the defense. On the opening of the trial, the first witness called was the true wife. She testified positively to the cohabitation of her husband with two other women in her house continuously. To-morrow the daughters, now married, will take the witness stand. The indictment in this case is brought under the statute in relation to crimes and its punishment, approved March 6th, 1852.

POLITICAL.

The St. Louis Republicans.

ST. LOUIS, October 17.—The text of the resolution adopted at the general Republican meeting held here last evening, and which was offered by ex Senator Henderson, is as follows:

Resolved, That as members of the Republican party we earnestly recommend the two State Committees to act in unison.

At a meeting of the Republican State Committee to-day, it adopted a resolution reiterating its previously expressed purpose to do everything possible for the unity of the party and the success of the Republicans of the State, without regard to past differences or divisions, fully recognizing the right of individual preference for candidates, but when a nomination has been made by party conventions, personal preference should then be sunk in devotion to party success; that in accordance with the spirit of the resolution passed by a Republican meeting held yesterday, they invite the liberal Republican State Committee to unite with them, collectively or individually, in a call for a State Convention, to the end that there be a united party and but one organization, and that one holding legitimate relations with the National Republican Committee.

The committee adjourned to meet on the 5th of December, to consider the subject of calling a State Convention to elect a delegate to the National Covention and elect a new State Committee, to which meeting the liberal State Committee, individually or collectively, are invited for consultation upon the proposed call. The committee passed a resolution soliciting the National Republican Executive Committee to call the next National Convention at St. Louis.

TENNESSEE.

Decision Reversed.

NASHVILLE, October 19.—In the Circuit Court of Knox county, some time ago, a verdict was rendered in the libel suit of John Baxter against Sanders & Clark, newspaper publishers, for twenty-seven thousand dollars damages, for publishing a speech of General Maboy denunciatory of Baxter. The Supreme Court, now in session at Knoxville, reverses the decision and remands the case for a new trial.

KU KLUX ARRESTED.

United States Marshal Pierce, of North Mississippi, brought four prisoners here to-day, charged with ku-kluxing a family named Honricut, near Burnsville, Mississippi, last week. They were arrested on the cars en route to Texas. Other members of the band are in jail at Corinth.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

MEMPHIS, October 19.—James Hays, a Chicago refugee, was killed last evening in a stone yard, on Washington street, where he was working, by falling on a fly wheel.

MINNESOTA.

Gold Discovery.

ST. PAUL, October 19.—General Lemon, arriving from Fort Garry last evening, reports intense excitement prevailing at Winnepeg on account of a recent gold discovery at Lake Shabondawin. Specimens of dust, nuggets and quartz have been brought to Winnepeg, and hundreds are rushing to the new gold fields. Lake Shabondawin is a short distance from Silver Islet.

ARREST OF FENIAN LEADERS.

General Curley, one of the leaders of the late Fenian fiasco upon Manitoba, arrived here yesterday, and was immediately arrested. General Curley, like General O'Niel, who was arrested here on Monday, declares that the Fenian raid was no raid at all, but merely a colonization scheme, and the colony could have successfully resisted Col. Wheaton, if so disposed.

WISCONSIN.

The Fire in Doar County.

MILWAUKEE, October 19.—The Doar County Advocate contains a full account of the loss of life and property by fire in that company up to Sunday night. Eight fires had been raging through the towns of Brussell, Forestville, Claybonns, Nasewapee, Steurgeon Bay and Sevastapol, burning fences and timber, but leaving the houses untouched. At nine P. M., on Sunday night the fiery tornado swept down from the southwest, beginning at the Belgian settlement in Brussell, sweeping through the towns of Union and Gardener, the western part of Sevastapol, and down the east shore of the bay. Every building in its path was consumed. The Williamson shingle mill and everything was burned, and most awful destruction of human life ensued. Out of eighty persons at the mill fifty-seven were burned to death.

The few survivors tell a horrible tale of the scene at this terrible holocaust. After the fire forty-five bodies were found in a potato patch in the centre of a clearing. Other bodies were found scattered, some in wells. There were many disfigured in a terrible manner—in some cases beyond recognition.

The great destruction was the work of fifteen minutes, and was the same tornado that burned up Peshtego and 1,200 human beings. A number of other losses of life are reported in other places—twenty-two in the town of Brussel, which suffered a like fate. There is scarcely a house or barn standing in the line of this storm of fire.

Efforts of relief are not spared here or anywhere in the State, and donations from abroad are coming along just in time to make comfortable those who survived. Contributions in money should be sent to Hon. Alex. Mitchel, President of the Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Bank, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and clothing or provisions to Hon. Harrison Ludington, Mayor of Milwaukee.

THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, October 19, 1871.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities.—The low pressure will probably move over New England to-night, with brisk winds and but little cloudiness. The winds will probably diminish on the lower lakes, and pleasant weather continue on Friday very generally east of the Rocky Mountains.

RELIEF FOR SUFFERERS.

The Michigan State Association in this city is actively engaged in making collections for the sufferers in their State, and has collected seven hundred dollars in money. A room in the Patent Office has been furnished for the reception of clothing, and quite a large amount has been sent.

Dr. C. F. Stanesbury, Grand Master of the Masonic fraternity in this district, was sent this afternoon to Chicago, bearing the offerings of the Masons of the District of Columbia to their brethrens in Chicago.

Donations made by the officers and employes of the government printing office were also taken by Mr. Stansbury.

PERSONAL.

General Sherman will leave here to-night for Ohio, to visit Hon. Thomas Quincy, who is seriously ill.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Civil Service Commission is engaged in discussing the general system of clerical examinations.

Bank Box Stolen.

NEW ORLEANS, October 19.—Nolle & Commack's bank box, containing about fifty thousand dollars, worth of securities, was stolen.

TORPEDO EXPLOSION.

A wagon load of Union torpedoes exploded this morning, killing the driver instantly. The driver's leg was blown several hundred feet. Windows in the vicinity were shattered by the concussion. The contents in a saloon in the vicinity were shattered. The torpedoes were manufactured by Klube & Goldsmith, of New York. They were being discharged from the ship George Hurlbut. Two hundred cases are still on board. The vessel will probably be ordered off.

THE Emperor of Germany has conferred the Cross of Merit on the Baron Charles de Rothschild, as an expression of gratitude for the numerous services which he rendered to the wounded during the war. This decoration has been accompanied by a most flattering letter from the Empress Augusta.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

CITY.

MAYOR—B. W. MORGAN.
TREASURER—C. L. MAGEE.
CONTROLLER—R. J. McGOWAN.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112¼.

THE Pittsburgh excursionists to Baltimore have had a royal good time of it in the City of Monuments. The festivities closed last night.

WE very gladly welcome the return of the Chicago Tribune to our list of exchanges. It was absent but a few days, and comes now looking almost as large and powerful as it did before the fire.

THE Russian Prince Alexis will receive a warm and fitting reception wherever he goes in the United States. The friendliness of his country towards our own during the rebellion assures for its representative a cordial greeting everywhere among our people.

THE Post has departed from the new departure in deserting the Democracy as a lost ship and advocating the nomination of Col. T. A. Scott as a Peoples' candidate for the Presidency. This course on its part is admitting that the old Democratic party should make no regular nomination in the national contest of 1872.

AID FOR the Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota sufferers continues to come in slowly. We hope the charitable people will be prompt in doing what they propose to do for the unfortunate people of the pineries of the Northwest, ere winter comes on and shuts off the sources of supply. Be prompt and liberal.

SOME OF the less important Democratic journals throughout the country do not take kindly to the recommendation that their dead party should be coffined and buried and not permitted in 1872 to go about as a skeleton in the burlesque pantomime of trying to make a President. They like the old name, but confess that they cannot now assert on what grave difference of opinion they can gain victory. It is truly hard for the wicked to die—but when they are dead why don't they decently keep to their coffins, for the rattling of dry bones is at no time pleasant music.

THEODORE TILTON may yet be reclaimed. There have been some Scotch theologians who claimed that Satan himself was not beyond hope of final salvation, and Tilton is not yet, we trust, down so far as the father of lies. Yet, that he has sadly degenerated, few, we think, save himself and his companions, will deny. He has not only fallen, but he pretends to glory in his shame and attempts with face of brass to withstand the dashings of the stream of reproach which flows against him. In reply to the charge of being a Communist, he says: "Yes, I am. I accept your indictments as I would a rosette and wear it in my button hole." He also professes to be proud of his championship of Victoria C. Woodhull, and indeed of all of the insane things which have lost for him the regard of thousands of people who are wise and good. Just now, we truly believe that he is doing the work of the devil about as thoroughly and harmfully as any man in the country.

FROM THE La Crosse Republican, Milwaukee Sentinel, Madison State Journal and other reliable and well informed sources we are gratified to learn that Gen. C. C. Washburne, the Republican candidate for Governor, is carrying everything by storm against his opponent, Ex-Senator Doolittle, who although an eloquent stumper, has to meet the derision of the people whose trust he betrayed by abandoning the Republican party of which he was once a very radical and rabid member, and returning to the Democratic party, from which he had previously deserted. The probability is that Wisconsin will roll up nearly or quite 20,000 (twenty thousand) majority for the Republican State Ticket. The Milwaukee or Eastern half of the State usually gives about fifteen thousand Democratic majority, and the Western half of Wisconsin, of which La Crosse is the chief town, overcovers that Democratic majority, and does enough more to give the State about 15,000 Republican majority. This year it will probably reach 20,000.

THE WAY in which the country stood the tremendous shock of the Chicago fire, shows to what a condition of solidity and prosperity the wise and judicious administration of President Grant has brought the United States. As is well known, the terrible disaster had the immediate effect of depreciating the value of almost every stock, a fact which could not escape the watchful eyes of the owners of idle capital in the banks, who did not fail to take advantage of the golden opportunities for investment. The result was the sudden withdrawal of an immense amount of money from the banks which could scarcely have stood against the pressure had they not been in so healthy a condition, and at the same time possessed the confidence of the people, fostered and nourished by the knowledge of the honesty, strength and ability of the government. What the result would have been had we had a Tammany President and cabinet ring, it is frightful to contemplate. A financial crash would have come as far outdoing the crashes of '37 and '57 as the Chicago fire surpassed that of Pittsburgh or Portland. Confidence begets confidence and distrust begets fear, and we firmly believe that the American people may thank, under Providence, their President, for averting a calamity which would have been without parallel in the fiscal history of the world.

THE "POST'S" CANDIDATE.

The Pittsburgh Post, in a studied and well written article, dignified into a double-leaded leader and occupying two columns of space, brings forward the name of the very able and distinguished citizen of Pennsylvania, Col. Thomas A. Scott, for nomination to the Presidency in 1872, as a people's candidate. In all the compliments it bestows upon that gentleman's honesty, integrity and ability we fully concur, and even were he in the field, as an actual contestant of Grant for the presidential chair, we could do no less. In bringing his name up as the only available candidate under whose leadership to enter the next canvass for the national political supremacy, our contemporary virtually acknowledges what we have ever of late maintained, viz: that its party is dead; and a Gabriel is earnestly sought after to resurrect it even into the semblance of life or animation. We believe the Post fully realizes the situation of the hour. It stands among the chief mourners at the coffin of Democracy, and, with tearful eyes and feeble voice, calls in vain upon the corpse to rise and walk. The current of electricity passed through the dead body of man will cause the muscles to move and the eyes to open; and so our neighbor hopes to set up Col. Scott as the battery from which the counterfeit of life may be effected in its deceased party, even so long a time as another futile effort to gain power may occupy, and then perhaps it will be willing to consign the rank and decomposed carcase of Democracy finally and forever to the grave of oblivion to which it long since was consigned by the American people.

Although most careful in its words and sentences the Post has made several ugly open confessions that we have been anxious that it should make in order to maintain its character for truth, decency and manliness. It asserts that "in view of the recent State elections' it is not good policy to nominate any man for the presidency who has played any conspicuous part in Democratic politics up to the present time. While professing to admire the elements of greatness and the high qualities of statesmanship embodied in the characters of many "distinguished gentlemen" of the Democratic fold, it, at the same time, indirectly informs those individuals who have run the ship upon the rocks of ruin that they must take back seats, in order that their deeds and records may be forgotten and the people deceived into taking stock in the vitality of the party, when a new pilot is placed at the wheel Is there not in all this a direct acknowlment that, overwhelmed by the disastrous defeats met with so recently in several of the great States, even the Post admits that its party is no more, that its leaders are practically unfit for further service, that its hopes can no longer rest on the basis of any principle whatever, but must be grounded on the personal popularity of one man—the Railroad King of the land? With a pardonable sophistry it effects to believe that here, in Pennsylvania, which it sorrowfully acknowledges gave twenty thousand Republican majority at the recent election, the voters "put principle aside and were guided by personal considerations, and this fact must be taken advantage of by the Democrats. Now, we submit, while resenting the insult, to the great majority, covered in the assertion, that the party, championed by our neighbor, for the last eleven years, never voted on principle, and having none of that article to put aside, their votes were cast out of a spirit of antagonism to progress and a blind refusal to admit that the world moves forward. But what greater confession do we want than that of the Post that a popular man, not principles, is what the Democracy must use as a weapon to accomplish anything in the Presidential contest of 1872? It is a virtual acknowledgement that the few who still cling to that political school have nothing to discuss with their opponents; no new issues to advance, no national question affecting the interests of the country or its people to flash forward; no trustworthy leaders to award, and in fact nothing on which to stand in common together. The Republican party fills all the spaces in national politics; no room is left for the Democrats. They are isolated and alone Mourn as they may, weep as they will, do what they can and their condition cannot be bettered. The great masses roused from a Rip Van Winkle slumber in 1860, they have not slept since, but with renewed energy have pushed onward and forward Through the agency of the truest Republican party in the world, the curse of slavery has been washed from our land; fair protection has been afforded our industries; prosperity has been given all sections; railroads have chequered the States and bound together the two great oceans, and opened afresh the commerce of the orient; the odious lines of caste have been obliterated and the country made a true asylum for the oppressed of all nations; popular schools for free education have sprung up everywhere and millions of on-coming citizens sip knowledge at their fountains. All these things the people know, and yet the mission of the Republican party is not ended. A great national debt entailed upon the Government through the resistance of the southern branch of the Democratic party, aided and abetted by its northern allies, to the authority of law, must be discharged, and the Republican party is the only one to be trusted with its liquidation, and so say the people. Hence it is sheer folly for our contemporary to build upon the light fabric of one man's personal popularity, be it ever so great, a hope to effect a change in the fixed determination of the masses that Grant shall again be called to preside over the affairs of the nation.

In its enthusiasm in pressing the name of Col. Scott for the Presidency, the Post makes a confession which we did not expect to receive. In the recent canvass we urged upon our friends the powerful bearing that succcess or defeat in the State would have upon the national struggle of 1872, and now the Post declares with unfeigned candor that "Pennsylvania elects the next President." Granted. With a majority of twenty thousand (figures admitted to be correct by our contemporary) to start upon, with a leader so popular as President Grant, we must carry the State by double twenty thousand in 1872, and there is no man living who can turn the tables by his individual popularity, so that the premeditated admisson of the Post may be interpreted to mean that an overwhelming Republican triumph in the national contest is inevitable. That much we have known but did not think that our generally reticent and guarded neighbor would be so outspoken as to make the confession. When the Post admits that "it is idle to talk of electing the Democratic candidate for President without carrying the State of Pennsylvania," and that it would be folly to "pass unheeded the significance of the fall elections of 1871," then Republicans who aided in contributing to the success of their party on the 10th inst, may justly feel proud, for in electing their State ticket they virtually re-elected President Grant.

Another point in the studied leader of the Post we wish to point out, inasmuch as it is peculiarly significant and capable of being interpreted in a way by no means complimentary to Col. Scott or his popularity. We quote its own words: "For years capital has been against us; let us reverse the order of things. Personal considerations largely influence the people; we must take advantage of the fact." Can it be possible that the broad hint of the Hibernian is here thrown out to afford a good reason for the Post's freshly found love for Col. Scott? The words imply as much, if the English language means anything. Col. Scott counts his wealth by tens of millions. Put the quoted sentences and this fact together, and what is the inevitable conclusion? Simply that his capital will buy his election; that "personal considerations" must be employed, in the absence of principles, to influence votes. Such monstrous pleading in behalf of any candidate, we venture to say, never before appeared in any respectable journal in the State, and we marvel at the audacity of the Post in venturing upon such dangerous ground. In the happiness of its zeal and enthusiasm, it seems to have forgotten its prudence and judgment. However much the capital may be reversed, and however strong the personal considerations may be, Col. Scott could not carry Pennsylvania any more, through such agencies, than could Asa Packer, whose bank account was nearly as large, and who was wofully defeated when he came burdened with his money bags before the people for gubernatorial honors. We again assert, in conclusion, that the last straw at which the Post has caught will afford its party no means of rescue. The Democracy are dead and doomed. Col. Scott or any other man in the land cannot lift them out of the tomb of oblivion to which the free and thinking people of the country have consigned the party, and all efforts to do so are idle.

"THAT BABY OF TUSCALOO."

The New York World has this to say of Mr. Bartley T. Campbell's new poem with which most of our readers are familiar:

"In the current issue of the Pittsburgh People's Monthly Mr. Bartley T. Campbell has very creditably imitated Will M. Carleton's "Farm Ballads," but why he should imitate them at all is the mystery. Not all the illustrated papers in the world, backed by all the magizines and aided by the precious Rosetti, could ever make a person of average intelligence believe that there is any more poetry in such mooning nonsense as "Betsey and I are Out" or in Mr. Campbell's "That Baby in Tuscaloo" than there is in "Woodman Spare That Tree," or "The Old Oaken Bucket." But then, as Mr Bennett is reported to have said of his own newspaper, some things are "written for people who can't read."

We have received as a rejoinder to the above notice of "that blessed baby" the following card from B. T. Campbell, Esq., the author:

MESSRS EDS.:—Of course I feel flattered in having attracted the attention of a newspaper so eminently able and respectable as the World, and my journalistic experience has taught me that equivocal praise—or even denunciation—is preferable to silence; but it has also enabled me, I think to apprecaite the difference between criticism and flat disapproval. Had the writer in the World dissected "The Baby," and presented the result of his analysis before his readers, I should have felt deeply grateful, for in that case he would have done me a great service in pointing out faults, that in the future might have been overcome.

However, I am rejoiced to find myself in such excellent company as Morris, and I see my "baby" go to the bastinado with "The Old Oaken Bucket," and "Woodman spare that tree" without a pang.

Now, avoiding the question of the poetical merits of these last named poems altogether, I claim that they must be possessed of excellence of some sort, or they could not have stirred as they have the tenderest sensibilities of eighty millions of readers, while the popularity of "Betsey and I Are Out," is sufficient to shield it from the weak javelin, so awkwardly hurled at it by the World's article.

There is nothing ambitious in "That Baby in Tuscaloo;" it was the inspiration of an hour, and the work of a day, but the many expressions of approval it has met with has more than compensated its author for the labor bestowed upon it. Since the World can see nothing to derive in Joaquin Miller's "Songs of The Sierras," I cannot wonder that my bantling should fail to reach its lofty and—must I say—hypercritical standard by a foot or two.

Yours, sincerely,
BARTLEY T. CAMPBELL.

GENERALITIES.

BOSTON has raised $403,000 for Chicago

MRS. FRODSHAM, sister of Mrs. Seguin, the favorite opera singer, became insane in Chicago during the fire and died last Sunday

A BOSTON paper says: "Some of the accounts of funds raised for Chicago in different cities have a large item of the 'estimated value of the articles sent by private hands.'"

THE Chicago Tribune says: W. H. Abbott arrived here yesterday with two car loads of provisions and $30,000 in cash contributed by the little city of Titusville, Pa. Verily "she hath done what she could."

THE London Times says: "The American war has shown how prodigious are the resources of the United States, which emerged from the struggle with a credit and renown placing them in the front rank of nations."

ONE of the saddest scenes at Chicago was that of a woman kneeling in the street with a crucifix held up before her and her dress burning while she prayed. While in this attitude a runaway truck dashed her to the ground.

THE following characteristic funeral item is from the Kansas City Times of the 10th: "The funeral of Mike Williams, shot by Wild Bill at Abilene, took place in this city on Sunday; Wild Bill paid the expenses of the funeral."

EMIGRATION from England to the United States is increasing rapidly. During the last three months for which an official report was made the departures from Liverpool were five thousand in excess of the preceding quarter. Among these emigrants are many skilled laborers and mechanics.

IT is always well to be prepared for emergencies. A gentleman was strongly advancing his claims to read his title clear to mansions in the skies, when an argumentative lady said, "But suppose you don't get to heaven after all?" "Oh, well," was the reply, "I have made ample preparation to go to some other place."

THE Lubec correspondent of the Machias, Me., Republican says, "Maine's decay" has not made itself manifest so far as our village is concerned. Since the war closed we have built ten vessels at a cost of $168,000, besides investing in vessels built elsewhere to the amount of $75,000. These vessels are paying good dividends, beside adding materially to the business of the place.

THE Chicago Tribune says: Mr. R. M. Hooley, the owner of the late Clark Street Opera House, meets with a total loss. He had just retired from business and was about to move east to live, having rented his Opera House for five years at $21,000 per year. He has nothing left but the ground, for which he has already liberal offers. He has declined them, however, preferring to hold on and build again.

I SAW a man on Monday night looking intently and seriously at his block of five story stores on Water street, then writhing and roaring in the flames. I knew him and watched him. His gaze was riveted. I pitied him heartily, for I judged that he was on the verge of despair. At last I ventured to approach and break his reverie. "Well, Blake, what are you thinking of?" said I. "Ah—h," said he, with a smile, "I was thinking that the rats must be catching h——l!"—Chic. Cor.

Two prominent individuals have recently expressed their views respecting the International Society—Mr. Gladstone, in his speech at Aberdeen, and Garibaldi, in a letter to Mr. Arthur Arnold, editor of a London evening journal, and brother of Matthew Arnold. Mr. Gladstone seems to think that the International will help to work out the capital and labor problem without doing any serious mischief, at least in England. Garibaldi is decidedly in favor of the International, the objects of which, he says, are the abolition of war, of standing armies, of priests, and of privileges.

A FELLOW standing on a piano declared that the fire was the friend of the poor man. He wanted everybody to help himself to the best liquor he could get, and continued to yell from the piano until some one as drunk as himself flung a bottle at him and knocked him off it. In this chaos were hundreds of children wailing and crying for their parents. One little girl in particular I saw whose golden hair was loose down her back and caught fire. She ran screaming past me and somebody threw a glass of liquor upon her which flared up and covered her with a blue flame.—Chicago Cor.

THE Chicago Tribune says: There was published in Saturday's Tribune a letter reflecting on the conduct of the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne Railroad Company in refusing to honor the passes given by the Relief Committess. It is the barest justice to that road, which has done all in its power for the homeless and hopeless to state that the crowds of persons seeking to get east over this road were so great for a few days that they were compelled to discriminate and to send forward only the women and children, and those who were unable to take care of themselves, refusing for the moment to transport peopeople who were able-bodied and were in no special haste. Their trains have been crowded to excess, and they have not had room for paying passengers. They deserve the praise of all, and the person who wrote the letter of complaint would not have done so, had he understood the special circumstances of the case.

Brazilian Turtles.

The size of these creatures may be imagined from the fact that the flippers and feet are one, in crawling over the sand, leave a track of two irregular grooves, three or four feet apart, as though a great wagon with cog wheels had been driven over the ground. It is an easy matter to find a turtle's nest by his track. She comes out of the sea and travels far up on the beach to lay her eggs in the sand, digging a hole a foot and a half or two feet deep for the nest. Prof Hart, who was in Brazil with Prof. Agassiz, says that he saw a turtle deposit one hundred and forty-three eggs in one of these nests. The eggs are all laid at one sitting, then covered up closely with the sand and left to hatch. The eggs are rather larger than hen's eggs, round and covered with a tough white skin. The Brazilians eat the eggs, and also the flesh of the turtle. The creature is captured in a curious way. Two persons go behind it, and taking hold of the shell, turn the animal on its back, in which position it is at the mercy of its captors, as it is impossible for it to turn over on its feet agin. The hunters are obliged to creep up behind it cautiously, for as soon as it is alarmed, it thrusts its fore paddles into the sand and throws it behind, so that if the pursuers do not quickly close their eyes they are likely to be blinded.

THE STATE.

MERCER COUNTY'S majority for Stanton was 816; for Beath 836.

ARMSTRONG COUNTY gave Stanton a majority of 371 and Beath 382.

GREENE COUNTY gave McCandless a majority of 1,478 and Cooper 1,480.

FOREST COUNTY gave Stanton a majority of 46 and Beath one of 86.

CHESTER COUNTY gave a majority of 3,255 to Stanton and of 3,326 to Beath.

WASHINGTON has raised about fifteen hundred dollars for the Chicago sufferers.

SHARPSVILLE, Mercer county, has raised more than five hundred dollars for Chicago.

WASHINGTON county's majority for McCandless was four and for Cooper thirty seven.

BISHOP DOMENEC will dedicate the new Catholic church in Waynesburg on Sunday, Oct. 29th.

KITTANNING has raised about fifteen hundred dollars for the destitute in the city of Chicago.

IT is said that the Monongahela Republican's printing office was burned down in the Chicago fire.

FRANKLIN COUNTY gave Stanton a majority of 395 and Beath 394. Last year the Democratic majority in that county was 100.

GREENVILLE has a case of small-pox. The owner of it is stopping at a hotel, which has been closed to the public in consequence.

THE Potter County Journal says it may interest some one to know that there are 1,584,000 inches between Lock-Haven and Williamsport.

THE Clearfield Journal says: Many of the wells in this place have failed within the past few weeks, owing to the dryness of the season. The couple of light showers of Tuesday and Wednesday last had little or no effect.

THE Waynesburg Messenger says: A female torchlight procession took place about 11 o'clock P. M., on the night of the 5th inst., our borough. The line of march was taken up near Slater's bridge, and continued to the east end of town. The canine family furnished the music for the occasion—Air, "Old Dog Tray.

THE Sharon Times says that the Oil rolling mill, which started there some four weeks ago with five boiling furnaces, has already increased to eight and four more are in process of construction. They are running night and day, and already the benefits of this new enterprise is being felt in the business community.

THE directors of the Montrose Railroad Company held a meeting at Montrose, October 12th, and closed a contract with U. Terry & Co. of Wyalusing, for the grading and construction of the entire line from Tunkhannock to Montrose, by the 1st of August next, for $105,000—$5,000 thereof to be paid in stock.

THE Greenville Argus says: Thomas Crowley, died in Conneautville on Friday night of last week, from the effects of a kick by a horse. The accident was not at first considered serious, the man walking around until a couple of hour after, when inflammation set in and it required the united efforts of four strong men to keep him under control.

THE Montrose Republican says: Bad little Silas Extell, aged ten summers, of Taylortown, ran away from school on Monday, assended a chestnut tree, and deconded rapidly, breaking an arm. We truly feel sorry for said Silas, but claim him as our specimen boy who ran from school, and paid dearly for his chestnuts. Compilers of Sabbath School books, take notice!

THE brick dwelling of Henry Buckingham, of Morgan township, Greene county, was entirely consumed by fire, save the walls, Tuesday afternoon of last week. The fire caught from the kitchen chimney, into which a stove pipe passed. Mr. Buckingham returned from the election about the time the fire was discovered, and, by the assistance of several of his neighbors, who had just returned home, succeeded in saving nearly all the household goods.

THE Montrose Republican says: On Saturday, October 7th, 1871, a pleasant company gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Truesday, in Liberty, it being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The day was lovely, the presents appropriate and the dinner bountiful. Of six children born to them all were living and all but one present. Of sixteen grand children, eleven were present. Other relatives and friends made the number over fifty.

THE West Chester Record says: A correspondent writing from East Whiteland says: A singular occurrence took place at the residence of Davis Lapp, of East Whiteland township, on Thursday, October 5th, about 10 o'clock A. M. It rained winged ants until the ground was covered with them. The noise they made in alighting resembled the sound of drops of rain. They fell from a cloud of them that hovered near the top of a chestnut tree close by the above named gentleman's residence.

WE find the following in the Greenville Argus: A sad accident occurred shortly after dark on Saturday evening last, one mile east of Saegerstown, Pa., on the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, while Mrs. White and Mr. Daniel Blair were driving home from the funeral of their brother-in-law, H. W. Bole. As they were crossing the railroad track a freight train overtook them, killing both instantly, their bodies being terribly mangled. A high embankment at this point cuts off the view of approaching trains.

ON Monday evening, October 9, Mr. Josiah Bush, residing, some three miles south east of Salem, committed suicide by shooting himself. That evening he went out, as he said, to turn the horses into pasture, when but a few minutes after leaving the house his wife heard the report of a rifle, and on going out saw Mr. Bush lying on his face on the ground but a short distance from the house. She at once turned him over, when he expired. The ball had entered his breast near the heart. No cause for the act is known, as he appeared to be in his usual state of mind.

EARLY on Friday morning, says the Erie Observer, James Pettit, a yardman in the employ of the Lake Shore R. R. Co., met with one of the most horrible deaths we have ever recorded. He was walking backwards in advance of a train that was slowly being pushed toward him, when one of his feet caught in a frog. He cried for the train to stop, but before its motion could be arrested the cars struck him, and he was thrown lengthwise of the rail with his head outside of the track. The wheels split his body completely in two, leaving the head attached to one part, and causing instant death.

THE Girard Cosmopolite is reliably informed that recently a freight train on the Jamestown and Franklin Railroad unaccountably commenced to slacken its speed and finally stopped altogether, and that one of the brakemen, on going forward to ascertain what the trouble was, found the engineer and fireman sound asleep, and the steam run clear down. Another train was following and the aroused slumberers at the post of most imperative duty had to bestir themselves in a lively manner, in order to get up steam and get out of the way. Of all the instances of carelessness on the part of railroad employes brought to our notice this is the most grossly inexcusable, and demands thorough investigation.

Simon's Wife's Mother.

A countryman was in New York on an August Sunday, and crossed the Brooklyn ferry in the morning, for the purpose of hearing Beecher. But lo, the Plymouth pulpit was occupied by a stranger, who delivered a tedious, common-place sermon from the text: "And behold Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever." Mr. Beecher was away taking his vacation.

In the afternoon the man sought to console himself for his morning's disappointment by listening to E. H. Chapin. He was shown to a front seat by the sexton of E. H. Chapin's church, and in due time was horrified to see the minister of the morning appear in the pulpit. The poor victim heard, for the second time, the sermon from the text: "And behold Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever," and went out of the sacred place very much discouraged. Mr. Chapin was taking his summer vacation.

In the evening the man, thinking to redeem in a measure the defeats of the day, accepted a choice sitting in the Reformed Dutch church, for the sake of hearing the genial, eloquent and scholarly Bethune. But his heart quite broke when the evil spirit that had possessed him all day got up and gave out a hymn. And when the text was announced, "And behold Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever," the party who knew all about the subject, rushed wildly from the overdose, and ran to his hotel. Dr. Bethune was taking his summer vacation.

The next morning the man took the first train for home, and stepping into the car there was his ministerial friend of the day before, with his sermon under his arm. The New York bells were ringing a fire alarm, and says the minister to his lay brother, "Friend, do you know what those bells are tolling for?" Says the countryman, looking hard at the sermon, "I don't know, but I shouldn't wonder if Simon's wife's mother was dead. I heard three times yesterday that she was down with a fever."

A Good Story.

Olive Logan told a story, in her lecture on "Nice Young Men," at Frederick, Md., the other night, to this effect: "At Middletown, Del., where I spent Sunday, some friends gave me some pretty plants to take home, and some rich dirt from their garden to keep them in. I have carried these plants and this dirt about with me for a week, I am so determined to take them home myself. At Hagerstown, yesterday, Mrs. Dorsey Herbert asked me why I carried that dirt about, and I replied that we had no dirt in New York rich enough for these plants. "Why," said Mrs. Herbert—a life-long Democrat by the way—"You've got Tammany!"

CERTIFICATE OF A CURE OF DEAFNESS.
NOISE LIKE A TEA KETTLE.
I took my son David Gilchrist, eight years old, to Dr. Keyser on the twenty-eighth of July, 1871, for a deafness and discharge from both ears, and a continual noise like the sound of a tea kettle, which had been coming on for over a year. He at that time could not hear a watch tick unless held close to the ears. The disease had been gradually growing worse, so that I had been made to believe him almost incurable, in fact most of the neighbors told me he would never get well. I had heard and read of Dr. Keyser's treatment in the daily newspapers, so I went to see the doctor, who told me he could cure him. He gave my son inward med'cine and also applications to the ear, which I am happy to say has entirely cured him: and now, October 14th, he can hear the watch at two feet distance, and can hear the most ordinary conversation. His health otherwise has greatly improved, and I only feel too grateful for the remarkable cure of my son and take pleasure in making the case public.

AN ANCHOR TO WINDWARD.
It is good seamanship, when there is reason to expect heavy weather, to drop an anchor to windward.
We are in the midst of the season of chills and fever. The sure preventive of this distressing malady is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. A course of that wholesome vegetable tonic will render an attack impossible. Take the hint and drop an anchor to windward.
Weak stomachs are most liable to be disordered late in the autumn, when the changes of temperature are marked and frequent. Hostetter's Bitters fortifies the stomach against the effects of these variations. Let dyspeptics make a note of the fact and drop an anchor to windward.
The liver is more sensitive when the weather is continually alternating between the warmth of summer and the cold of winter than at any other period of the year. This is peculiarly the season of such alterations. Let the bilious remember that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is essentially an anti-bilious medicine, and drop an anchor to windward.
The wisest plan is to forestall evil. The next best thing is to arrest it. For disorders of the stomach, irregularities of the bowels, and all periodical fevers, take, as soon as the complaint developes itself Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

GENERAL AGENTS FOR THE Johnstown Improved Hydraulic Cement,
This Cement is equal to any cement made in the United States, in many respects better than the Louisville Cement or the Rosendale, and decidedly better in all respects than the Uniontown or Akron Cement. It has a smaller amount of shrinkage, sets gradual, bears as much sand as any cement made, and sets as hard; stands frost well; it has all the qualities that hydraulic cement should have. The facilities for getting this cement is greater than all others in this market, less freight and fresher, which is an important matter Having but a short distance to ship we can therefore sell cheaper than any other in the market.

Finance and Trade.

NEW YORK, October 19, 1871.

The Gold market was alternately heavy and firm during the day and ranged from 113 to 112⅞, closing at 112⅞. Loans were from 3 per cent. per annum to 1-16 per day for use. Clearances $48,000,000. Awards at the gold sale $3,000,000, at from 112.53 to 112.87. The Government bond market was generally dull and weak, being unfavorably affected by the decline in gold and some further sales in insurance companies. There was a marked improvement in stocks to-day. Early dealings showed an advance of ¼ to 1½c in the general market, but the improvement was partially lost when it was announced that the Treasury had sold $3,000,000 in gold. Later in the day the sentiment was decidedly bullish, and prices were carried higher than had previously been reached.

The upward speculation was led by Reading shares, which advanced 4 per cent. from the lowest point to-day. This buoyant condition of affairs was brought about by some prominent bears covering their shorts and turning bulls for a temporary campaign. Money was easier, and this assisted the rise. The market at close was strong and generally up to the highest point to-day. The only re-action was in Reading, Western Union and R I. Cash stock of Reading was made scarce this afternoon, and one-sixteenth to one-eighth per cent. was paid for the use of it until to-morrow. The demand for money was quite sharp during the early hours of the day, but in the afternoon there was an easier feeling and loans were made at seven per cent. on stocks, and seven to five per cent on government bonds. State bonds dull and heavy.

—We clip the following from the Chicago Tribune, of Wednesday:

"Business was active to-day, under the circumstances. The opening of the banks re-established confidence, and many who had hitherto carefully hoarded the little saved from the fire were now willing to use it, as they saw reason to believe that it would soon be replaced. The wholesale merchants were generally busy in fixing up, but the few who were ready to trade had all they could attend to, though the orders were small. In produce circles the movement was fair, but many operators were engaged in looking up their bank accounts, anxious to know the exact basis on which they could do business hereafter.

The dealers in grain made numerous settlements, principally upon the basis established by the committee appointed for that purpose. The scale of prices was published in our issue of this morning, viz.: Wheat, seller the month, $1.18¼; do last half, $1.19¾; do seller November, $1.20; do seller the year, $1.18¾. Corn, seller the month, 46½c; do seller last half, 46¾c; do seller November, 46c; do seller the year, 44½c. Oats, seller the month, 30c; do seller last half, 30¼c; do seller November, 31c. Rye, 65c. Barley, 58¾c; do seller last half, 59c.

It was estimated that fully two-thirds of the options outstanding in grain were settled to-day, and a great many checks given in payment. Of course, many of the differences were left unpaid, and many others were closed out by a transfer of liabilities, this leaving the outstanding differences between very few parties, and giving but little for the committee to do in equalizing claims. Two or three operators were buying grain to ship, the general tendency being to easier prices, as several grain-holders wanted to realize, so as to be able to use the money in preparing to do business in the future. On the contrary, options for future delivery were generally firmer, several large orders being sent here to buy for outside parties, who anticipate a reaction from the recent dullness.

The grain movement is looking up. The subjoined statement shows that the amount of grain sent out yesterday is not a bad average quantity for each day of the entire year."

—It would perhaps be timely to remind the holders of fire insurance policies that it would be better for them to have all policies of insurance, issued by companies which have suspended, canceled at once, whether they get back any of the premium paid or not, for in case of loss the solvent companies would pay only pro rata. For instance, if a merchant has $30,000 insurance in four policies of $5,000 each, and a loss by fire occurs of $10,000, the loss to each company is $2,500. Should one company be insolvent the other three companies would pay only $2,500 each, or $7,500 in all; but if the policy of the insolvent company had previously been canceled, then the remaining companies would be liable for the whole loss. In other words, when an insurance company becomes insolvent, the holder of the policy virtually becomes the indorser of that company to the extent of the policy he holds.—Cincinnati Gazette.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, October 19, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda ash, 4 cts; refined do, 4¾@4¾. Pearls, 9¾; Pots, 7¾; Nitrate soda, 4¾@4¾.

APPLE BUTTER—Is coming in pretty freely, but there is a steady demand for prime to choice with sales at 70@75 cts per gallon.

APPLES—The receipts continue large, mainly from Ohio and Indiana, and with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements, stocks are accumulating, and the common grades are lower; ranging from $2.00@3.50 per bbl. Prime winter fruit, in good order, is held firmly and for this particular kind no decline in prices is anticipated; may be quoted at $3.00@3.50.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 30@33c.

BUTTER—Is dull and unchanged, prime to choice roll, 18@20. Stock of common butter is large and there is but little inquiry for it.

BEANS—There is some inquiry, and the supply in this market is very small; prime to choice navy quoted at $2.50@3.00 per bushel.

BROOM CORN—Stock in this market is very much reduced, and prices are firm and tending upward.

CHEESE—Is unchanged; prime New York Goshen, 15¾@16; Ohio Goshen, 15@15¼; Factory, 14@14¾; Dairy, 13@13½.

CHESTNUTS—The receipts continue fair and with only a moderate demand, the market is dull though prices are unchanged; $3.00 seems to be regarded as the ruling quotation, though there have been some sales, we understand, at $2.75.

CORN MEAL—Is very quiet and the demand is mainly of a retail character; may be quoted in small lots at 85@90 cts per bushel.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2.50@3.00 per bbl, Rosendale, $4.00@4.50; Calcined Plaster, $4.25@4.50.

CIDER—The market is quiet and unchanged at $4@8 per bbl.

CRANBERRIES—Are quoted all the way from $10@15 per bbl, according to quality and condition.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands, in a jobbing way, still quoted at 22@23¼—usual advance for small lots.

DRIED FRUIT—There is considerable inquiry for halve Peaches, and the stock at present is very much reduced; we continue to quote at 9¾@10 cts. There is also some inquiry for prime bright apples, but there is no stock.

EGGS—The market is steady but unchanged; sales reported at 28@30—dealers generally give 28 as the ruling quotation.

FLOUR—The only new feature we have to notice, is that the feeling is not so bullish, and holders generally are more anxious to realize—in some instances, concessions have been made to effect sales. We reduce our quotations on Minnesota flour's from $8 to 7.75, and good red winter wheat flour cannot fairly be quoted above $7.50, notwithstanding some of the Ohio millers are asking $7.50@7.40, delivered here. As will have been noticed by those who have been watching the dispatches, all the leading markets have been offish for some days past.

GRAIN—The receipts of Wheat continue liberal, and, as the mills are pretty well supplied, the market is easier and prices are tending downward; we continue to quote at $1.40@1.45 for red, and $1.45@1.50 for white—some of the mills, we understand, refuse to go above $1.42@1.43 on red. Both Cincinnati and Cleveland are off considerably—the latter market dropped 6 cts per bushel on Wednesday. Oats, steady but without quotable change; we continue to quote mixed at 45@46, and white at 47@48. The stock at present is very much reduced, but it is said there is a large amount en route, and this has a tendency to make buyers chary; however, dealers generally are disposed to think that prices will not go back, and that they are good stock at present prices. Corn continues very scarce, and extreme prices are still being realized, 75@80—we are reported sales of several cars of shelled at 78. Rye is in limited supply also, and may be fairly quoted at 90. There is rather more inquiry for Barley, but there is no improvement in prices; good to prime spring, 80@85; fall, 85@90.

GROCERIES—The Coffee market continues very firm, and prices continue to advance. The stock in first hands is remarkably small, 31,115 bags, and it is predicted that 30 cts will be the inside figure, in bond, before the close of the week. Prime Java is quoted at 26@28¼, gold, in New York, and buyers are reported as taking hold at these figures. Molasses, as has been the case for some time past, very dull, holders generally anxious to realize. Sugars, quiet and unchanged. Rumors are being circulated in New York that our domestic cane will not yield much, if any, more sugar than last year, and that the European beetroot crop will run behind at least ten per cent; there may be something in these rumors or they may have been manufactured in the interest of large holders, with a view of keeping up prices.

SUGARS—Refined—Standard Hards, 13¼; A, 13; B, 12¾; Ex. C, 12¾; C. Yellow, 12¾. Porto Rico Sugars—Choice, 11½; Prime, 11; Good, 10¾. Cuba Sugars, 10½@11. Demerara, 12¾@13¼. Sugar House Sugars—Knight's Extra C, Yellow, 11¾; C. G. 11½; other grades, 9@11. New Orleans Sugars—None in market.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 24; Prime, 23; Good, 23; Fair, 20@21¼; Java, 28@30. Laguayra, 25@26. Mocha, 45. Roasted Coffee, pure, 24@25. Lower grades, 22@23.

SYRUPS—Havemyer & Elder's, 75. White Honey, 75. Lovering's, 60. Durant's, 75. Bruno's, 75; other grades, 45@60. New Orleans Molasses, 60@68.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 9¼; Good, 9¼; Fair, 8¾. Rangoon, 8@8¼. Patna, 8.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY October 19, 1871.

Refined, as compared with yesterday, is a shade lower, October be'ng quoted at 24¼, against 24¾@24½; however, the market was reported steady, with some inquiry at the reduction, but we heard of no sales. November and December nominal at 24@24¼—there is little or no inquiry beyond October. Crude reported firm but unchanged: Parker, $4.50; Foster, $4.73¼. Considerable complaint is being made at these points about a scarcity of cars; we understand that oil bought there for this market, several days ago, has not yet been shipped. So far as we can learn, refiners are only buying for immediate requirements, to fill maturing contracts, and, consequently, they are considerably annoyed at the delay. Oil Barrels have been somewhat excited for several days, and prices are higer; sales of city make reported to-day at $1.90.

Broom Corn.

The general market is without much activity, but very firm. Indeed the extreme high views of holders tend materially to check business, as the majority of buyers hesitate about paying the rates asked. The stock, however, is all under control, and not offered except at outside rates. We quote at 7@9c for red, 10@12c for green, and 12@15c for common to choice hurl.—N. Y. Bulletin 18th.

RIVER NEWS.

River rose a couple of inches yesterday. Weather clear and pleasant; prospects for rain and a rise, continue very discouraging.

The Monongahela river boats seem to have about all the business they can attend to and the recent rise has improved navigation in that stream very much.

A telegram from Little Rock reports the Arkansas river as having risen 6 feet.

The Yeager left New Orleans for St. Louis on Wednesday.

The Nellie Peck was expected to reach Sioux City on Sunday last.

—A Washington correspondent writes to the Cincinnati Commercial as follows: As you are aware, a committee was sent from Cincinnati for the purpose of securing a liberal construction of the late obnoxious law passed by Congress. I would say in behalf of the Supervising Inspectors, and of the Secretary of the Treasury, that they show every disposition to do what they can for us under the circumstances, but, sir, there is a pressure of patentees, or in other words, clap-trap men, hanging around the Inspectors, and threatening to have their heads taken off if they do not enforce this odious law immediately, because in passing the law those humane gentlemen, who are so fretful about our lives on the western waters, have some of their infernal machines engrafted in this law, and they well know if they can not force it on us now, the powers that are moving at this time will go to Congress in full force in opposition to the law, than has not its comparison in any commercial interest in the civilized world. During the short time legislation has been going on in the interest of saving life and property on the Western waters, we have had a change of life preservers nearly every year, and, as you are well aware, many other changes about our boilers, appliances of different kinds, and I defy any man to point out a single life that has been saved by the clap-traps imposed on us. We have been imposed on, and have quietly submitted to all appliances required by the Government as good and loyal citizens should do. We have found these appliances are not reliable. Now, sir, we demand of the Government that all appliances hereafter placed upon our steamers shall be thoroughly tested by competent men, and at the expense of those humane gentlemen who are so anxious to save our lives and property, as they would have us believe. At the same time, I beg leave to differ with these gentlemen that profess so much and do so little. Were their clap-traps life-saving, there would be no necessity for going before Congress to get them enforced. We, as Western steamboatmen, will take anything reliable to save life or property, without compulsion from any quarter, but we say to you again, we are determined to oppose any and all appliances that have not been fairly tested and reliable beyond a doubt in the saving of life and property. Now I would say to all steamboatmen, be up and doing; attend to your interest, or your boats will be a traveling or floating exposition that will surpass and take the honors conferred on your great Exposition just closed. You can have no idea, unless you have been here, of the assurance and impudence of these patentees in their determination to force their manklilers on us, but thanks, we say, that we have many friends in the Board who are ready to do justice, and that can not be bought or sold.

—The Keokuk Gate City, of Sunday, says: Shortly after dusk last evening the wind blew the steamer Gipsey from her moorings on the levee out into the current of the river, and upset her. Her hulls were rapidly filled, and she sunk in about 15 feet of water. The bell was rung as a signal of distress, and the Little Eagle went promptly to her relief, and succeeded in rescuing all of her crew. Her boiler decks are just above water. She can probably be raised.

—The New Albany correspondent of the Louisville Ledger says: Navigation on the Lower Ohio is about played out. The Sandy is the only boat that has arrived here for three days. The Palestine has been aground at Hughes' Bar since Friday. Only 27 inches over Portland Bar yesterday. One of the ferryboats is now running from Portland to the foot of Sand Island, for teams; the other from this city to Portland, for passengers.

—A Louisville special says: The Chamber of Commerce Committee from Cincinnati passed over most of the Canal this afternoon, and find the work progressing very satisfactorily. General Weitzel is doing everything in his power to complete the enlargement at the earliest day possible.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

$1,000 FORFEIT—NO SUGAR OF LEAD.—We pledge ourselves to the public, and give them this most solemn assurance, under a penalty of one thousand dollars, that the "LONDON HAIR COLOR RESTORER" does not contain a particle of Sugar of Lead, or injurious drugs in any form whatever, and that it is an innocent preparation, incapable of doing the least injury.

WM. P. SWAYNE. (Dr. Swayne & Son.)

Affirmed and subscribed before me, this seventh day of July, A. D. 1871.

PETER HAY, Alderman, Twelfth ward, Philadelphia.

WHY "LONDON HAIR COLOR RESTORER" IS SO HIGHLY ESTEEMED AND UNIVERSALLY USED.

BECAUSE—It never fails to restore gray or faded hair to its original youthful color, softness and beauty.

BECAUSE—It will positively stop the hair from falling, and cause it to grow on bald heads in all cases where the follicles are left.

BECAUSE—It will restore the natural secretions, remove all dandruff, itching, and cures all diseases of the scalp.

BECAUSE—It will do all that is promised, never failing to preserve the original color of the hair to old age.

BECAUSE—It is warranted to contain no mineral substance, and easily applied as water, not staining the skin a particle or soiling anything.

BECAUSE—It has become a staple article, and no Toilet is complete without it, and every leading Druggist and dealer in toilet articles sells it.

Price, 75 cents a bottle. Dr. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia. Sole Agents for the United States. Sold in Pittsburgh by McCLARRAN & McKENNAN, 85 Market street and opposite P. O., and all Druggists and dealers everywhere. se8:MWF

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS.—These invaluable Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses and remove all obstructions from whatever cause and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the constitution. In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed. The circulars around each package give full directions and advice, or will be sent free to all writing for them, sealed from observation.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—It is the fate of every valuable medicine to be COUNTERFEITED. Job Moses' Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively COUNTERFEITED. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits.

N. B.—In all cases where the GENUINE cannot be obtained, One Dollar enclosed to the Sole Proprietor, JOB MOSES, 18 Cortland street, New York, will insure a bottle of the genuine, containing Fifty Pills, by return mail, securely sealed from any knowledge of its contents. 1y5:F:d&w

PITTSBURGH HOMŒPATHIC MEDICAL INSTITUTE, 284 PENN ST.—DR. AUGUSTUS LEE, long and well-known as the acting physician and manager of Dr. William Butler Whittier's business of this city, takes this opportunity to inform the public and his patients that he has opened the above Institute for the treatment and cure of all special and nervous diseases. A most successful practice for eighteen years is sufficient guarantee in the future. Very special attention given to Spermatorrhoea or Nervous Debility, which is permanently cured. The effect of mercury eradicated. Long standing constitutional diseases skillfully treated and cured. The Doctor gives particular attention to female complaints. Send for the Doctor's pamphlet, a treatment to plain language, on venereal diseases, sent by mail for two stamps. All old patients who desire to consult the Doctor are requested to call, as no further charge will be made for consultation, which is always free at the office. au8:3

SCROFULA AND ALL SKIN DISEASES. "THE TWO GREAT REMEDIES."

Baggage Smasher.—Officer Eichelman brought a man to the watch-house last night, who refused to give his name. The prisoner was caught by the officer breaking open a trunk at the Union Depot, evidently intending to commit a robbery. An information will be made to-day.

Action for Slander.—Yesterday, in the District Court, a capias was issued for the arrest of John Kerr and Catharine Kerr, his wife, at the instance of Andrew Warner and Susan Ann Warner, his wife, on an action for slander. Bail in five hundred dollars will be required. The parties all reside in the First ward, and the defendants are charged with uttering slanderous words of and concerning Mrs. Warner.

Hillside Fire.

The alarm of fire in Allegheny yesterday afternoon was occasioned by the burning of the leaves and brush on the side of the hill near Woods Run, and opposite Lewis, Oliver & Phillips' mill. The fire produced a great smoke, which created the impression in the city that a great conflagration was in progress down that way. There were no houses in the vicinity, and although the fire was burning at last accounts, no fears for the destruction of any property were entertained.

Good Appointment.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Dixmont Insane Asylum, held last Tuesday, Dr. George Purviance, of this city, was selected as Assistant Physician to Dr. Reed. We understand there were several applicants for the position, but the Board and Dr Reed agreed unanimously to tender the position to Dr. Purviance, which he accepted yesterday. The selection we think very good, as no young man can be found with more experience than Dr. Purviance. The position is one that requires energy, experience and attention, and Dr. Purviance emminently fills the requirements, being a gentleman well read and experienced in his profession.

A Handsome Sum.

The lecture of Miss O'Gorman, at Lafayette Hall, was delivered to an overflowing house, and realized, after the payment of all incidental expenses, the handsome sum of $260, which is to be devoted to such charities as may be named by the lecturess. A strange discrepancy exists between this sum and that realized on the occasion of the lecture for the benefit of the Chicago Relief Fund. On that occasion the price of admission was seventy-five cents, while yesterday it was but twenty-five cents, and yet the agent of Miss O'Gorman, we are informed, only received $200 after payment of expenses.

Episcopal Church Offerings.

The amounts contributed by the Episcopal congregations to the Chicago relief fund in response to Bishop Kerfoot's appeal, so far as reported, are as follows:

Trinity Chapel, Pittsburgh	$202 94
Trinity, Conneautville	8 94
Emmanuel, Corry	26 56
Christ Church Mission, Johnstown	28 81
Christ Church, Greensburg	47 50
Calvary Church, East Liberty	200 00

These funds are retained in hands of the treasurer appointed by the Bishop awaiting his return from the Convention at Baltimore. Next Sunday's collections in the remaining parishes throughout the Diocese will, it is hoped, increase the amount considerably. When these are received the whole will be sent to Chicago or probably a portion of it to Wisconsin or Michigan.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—This evening the popular young actor, Mr. Barrett, has his farewell benefit, upon which occasion an extraordinary bill will be presented, consisting of the great New York success, played by Mr. Barrett at Booth's Theatre, entitled the "Man O'Airlie," and the romantic drama of "The Corsican Brothers." To-morrow afternoon "Saratoga" will be presented at the matinee.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—The popular sensation of "Neck and Neck" will be repeated this evening. As Mr. Stetson's engagement closes Saturday evening, we advise all who would not miss a good thing to attend the Fifth Avenue Opera House this evening. Our amusement-going readers will, we are certain, be pleased to learn of the advent of the Pittsburgh favorite, Miss Augusta L. Dargon, at this establishment next week.

MASONIC HALL.—The great Unsworth minstrel troupe are drawing fine audiences, and their success is richly deserved. This evening there will be an entirely new performance. Strong among the "taking" features to-night will be Unsworth's lecture on the "Escaped Nun," which we can safely promise will be one of the funniest lectures ever heard from the lips of a burnt corkonian.

A Very Valuable Invention.

We have had the pleasure of examining a new invention made by our fellow-citizen, T. J. House, Esq., a compositor of some twenty years' experience, in the way of a side stick combination for locking up galleys and forms in the printing office. It will prove a special blessing to printers, inasmuch as it is destined to entirely do away with the sticks and quoins now exclusively used, and which are so difficult to manipulate and generally so unsafe to handle. The invention is quite simple—like all really good ones generally are—and the sticks can be manufactured at very cheap prices. It consists of two plain square parallel pieces joined together by means of a metalic rod at either end. In the centre below the surface are V shaped quoins of metal through which is run a rod of iron or brass, and which are neatly fitted to eccentric grooves. By pushing the quoins forward the stick expands, filling the necessary space and locking the matter as securely as if it were placed in a vice. The locking of a form is accomplished immediately, and after fastened, there is not a particle of danger of its yielding the thousandth part of an inch to any pressure whatever. The sticks can be made so as to be adjustable to any sized chase, there being no limit to its expansion. We have tested the stick and will adopt it in our composing room, believing it to be an indispensible acquisition to a well appointed printing office. The inventor will probably realize a fortune on his invention which has cost him years of study.

Personal.

Hon. Elijah Babbitt, of Erie, who has been in attendance on the Supreme Court now in session in this city, had finished his business having made an able argument before the court on Thursday morning, left the court room and went to the ticket office to purchase a ticket for his return on the evening train to Erie, was attacked on the way to his hotel with extreme dizziness, fainted and fell to the pavement, sustaining a slight injury on the scalp. He was immediately joined by a friend, who, with the aid of a police officer, succeeded in removing him to his room at the Central Hotel, where he was promptly attended by his much alarmed friends and by Doctor Reiter, who thought it a case of incipient apoplexy. The patient recovered consciousness in a few minutes and after an hour or two of rest seemed so much better, that with the Doctor's permission he took the evening train for home, accompanied by Messrs. Thompson, Benson and other personal friends of the Erie Bar, of which Mr. Babbitt is the patriarch, being more than 70 years of age and revered as well by the people as by the profession of which he has ever been an ornament. He represented the Erie district in the 36th and 37th Congress.

Having known and highly esteemed Mr. Babbitt through nearly all the years of his professional life, and valued him highly for his abilities and for his great purity of character, we will await intelligence of his safe arrival at home, and his complete recovery with a solicitude, akin to that of his own neighbors and friends.

Sheltering Arms.

Yesterday on our way to the regular monthly meeting of the "Sheltering Arms Association" our hearts were gladdened by seeing in your paper, that at last some one outside of our small corporation felt the need of a reformatory for poor fallen women. We thank the author of the article, and if the men and women of this community knew half the sad cases of ruined unsuspecting country girls that have come under our care, who long for a place of refuge and reform, we are sure we should not have to go on in such sadness with our home at Wilkinsburg. Mr. Kelly has given us five acres of land. Mr. Monahan has donated us a handsome plan for our building, and a few gentlemen have assisted us to begin one wing for present use, but we must soon stop even this if we do not get further help. The Chatham Street Home is to be the Probationary Refuge, and as we find the sincerity of the professions of its inmates, we will remove them to the Country Home, where they will be taught to read, write, sew, etc. A laundry or some other useful branch of labor we hope will soon make the institution self-supporting. Please, Mr. Editor, plead for our cause, and ask gentlemen to send us contributions, and not want us to go for them.

Respectfully yours,
MRS FELIX R. BRUNOT,
In behalf of the S. A.

We can say for the institution represented by Mrs. Brunot in the above communication that we know it has during the past two years been doing a good work. From the nature of it it cannot in its operation or results be paraded before the public. But the ladies have moved along, animated by a sincere desire to help the fallen, and have persevered amidst many discouragements. We hope when the public are giving so liberally to other objects of charity, this one of the most deserving, may not be overlooked. It certainly appeals to all.

Energy.

In the world's opinion success is considered the test of ability, and to him who achieves it the honors of the general public are showered and with a lavish hand. But few reach the desired goal in the face of difficulties that constantly beset the business man, but still less are the number when encumbered with serious disasters superadded to the incidental discouragements. Among the latter who are pre-eminently an example, stand the firm of Messrs. J. E. Caldwell & Co., Jewelers, 902 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. A serious conflagration in the winter of 1869 swept away in a few hours the realization of years of labor, thought and care. With a courage that rose in direct proportion to the difficulties to be surmounted, they resolved to again tempt their fortunes, and with the resolve came naturally that elasticity of industry that begets a triumph. The sympathy of a feeling public was with them, and their friends, by kind words and more substantial tokens, bid them God-speed. The result is before us. On the great thoroughfare of that beautiful city, among the palaces of industrial art, none exhibit greater tokens of prosperity than can be perceived in their superb establishment. Articles of virtu from all parts of the civilized world crowd their cases and shelves. Silver ware of the most exquisite patterns, and for every purpose, for the table and the toilet, are here in profusion. The tastes of amateurs in rare gems can be thoroughly satisfied, for the complement covers every conceivable range of quality and price. As much attention has been of late directed to imported fancy goods, Messrs. Caldwell & Co. have taken pains in their selection of this class of ware, and present in their stock some of the choicest of Vienna goods. They are in Russia leather, gilt bronze, cut glassware, &c. The taste in real bronze has improved so rapidly within the past few years that the supply could hardly keep pace with the demand. In these goods this house possesses a beautiful assortment, well worth an examination. Upon a recent visit, beside the innumerable beauties that called forth our admiration, we were shown the new Coramandel ware, splendidly mounted in gold, one of the first importations into this country. Want of space shortens our notes on this thriving and deserving firm, and we conclude by wishing them all the prosperity they so eminently deserve.

The Office of Joseph Maclean, Room No. 5, 96½ Fourth avenue, is a pleasant resort for the literary man. You can find books in every department of literature, and many are works. Send for a catalogue. tf

UNDER THE STAGE.

Miss O'Gorman's Lecture.

"TO LADIES ONLY."

The Way a "Gazette" Reporter Heard It—His Painful Situation—The "Escaped Nun" Gives Some Account of Convent Life.

The announcement that Miss Edith O'Gorman, "the Escaped Nun," would deliver a lecture on the subject of her convent life, on yesterday afternoon, created a considerable degree of excitement in the minds of the fair sex of our city, and from the moment that the first announcement of the lecture was promulgated up to the hour announced for the delivery of the lecture, the gentleman having the sale of tickets in charge was beseiged by a continuous train of seekers after admission passports. But lovely women was not alone in the desire to hear the words of wisdom and the startling revelations that were expected to drop like honey from the lips of the O'Gorman. There were those among the Lords of creation, who entertained strong desires to be admitted within the precincts of the Hall supposed to be sacred to the gentler sex alone. Of these were several of the Bohemian profession—the corps reportorial—but their applications for admission were instantly rejected, and in a manner so positive as to preclude a hope in the most remote corner of their craniums, that an official permit giving them access to the Hall would be granted.

The reporter of this paper, however, with a persistency that was, perhaps, worthy of a better cause, set about to devise ways and means to procure for publication an elaborate account of what was said and done by the charming Edith, and at last hit upon a plan which he prosecuted with ardor, until success had marked his efforts. At an early hour in the morning his presence upon Wood street might have been noted by the passer-by, and his position on that thoroughfare was maintained until the janitor of Lafayette Hall, some time previous to the lecture hour, had made his appearance upon the field and opened the door. During this time our determined reporter dispensed entirely with refreshment for the inner man, so fully was he bent upon the idea of gaining admission to the holy of holies. So soon as the above-mentioned official had opened the door and busied himself with brooms and brushes, Sir Knight of the Pencil, upon tip-toe and with a countenance upon which guilt was plainly written, made his way

BEHIND THE SCENES.

In doing so he very wrongfully took advantage of the superannuated janitor, whose hearing is wonderfully defective.

He had now overcome the chief difficulty to encounter, that of entering the hall, and was not long in making his way behind the dilapidated drop-curtain and the mouldering remnants of some ancient scenery to the rear of the stage where he found a rickety stair-case blockaded with hingeless doors, wooden legs, window glass, cigar boxes, picture frames, revolutionary muskets, pop bottles and various other articles once of domestic utility or aristocratic luxury. At the risk of a bruised head or a broken member, the stairs were descended with some difficulty, and he found himself in a small and roughly furnished room, unoccupied save by crickets and roaches, under the stage. In front, the floor of the Hall which was perhaps four feet higher than this room, had been extended beneath the proscenium for a distance of perhaps two feet, and this eminence running all along the front part of the room had been partitioned off from the rear of the apartment, a man hole of diminutive proportions being left by which the cave, as it might properly be styled, could be entered. Discovery in the room was scarcely probable, but to make assurance doubly sure he crawled in at the aperture to this place, and a streak of light being admitted through a crevice in front, through which he was also able to see the audience, he made preparations to take down in brief a report of the lecture. His position, cramped in this passage way, three feet in height by two in width, was a peculiarly trying one, while the dust and soot an inch deep upon the floor, affected his nostrils in an unpleasant manner, but sneezing in such an instance was impossible. After agonizing here for many and weary minutes, the audience began to assemble. There were wives and widows and maids amongst them, some younger, some older, and representing in their costumes every known vagary of to-day's fashions. There were there, huddled in one compact mass, maid and matron, black and white, the millionaire's wife and the washerwoman, together with a variegated collection of infants of all sizes, kinds and colors, and indeed we could say all tones of voices. Preparations were now begun upon the stage for the seating of ladies of distinction, and the racket above our friend almost distracted him. He was completely disgusted about this time by the inconsiderate act of an ancient-visaged dame who, all seats being occupied, concluded to stand in front of the stage, and in so doing she took occasion to occupy such a position as to effectually shut off the light, previously furnished him by the afore-mentioned crevice. He was restrained, however, from the use of any bad words by a new feeling which suddenly possessed him—that of fear. The possibility of discovery suddenly took hold upon him, and the thought that ere long his raven locks might be exposed at some store front on Diamond street had such an effect upon his luxurious tresses as to induce each particular hair to stand on end like quills upon the fretful porcupine. He began to wish that he was engaged in some employment of a more conscientious character. Every action of his past life passed before him as in the changing scenes of Kaleidoscope. Each movement above or about him caused a shudder to pass through his frame, and it was with feelings of joy as well as fear and trembling in the darkness he felt for pencil and paper and began to write as best he could without light or table, the words as they came from the lips of the speaker.

"A STILLNESS AS OF NIGHT—

as of deep, dark night—and a pause"—and then in a clear, ringing tone. Miss O'Gorman spoke as follows:

The subject of Life in a Convent is doubtless a mystery to very many of you, and it is a mystery I hope none of you may ever have to solve, as I have done, by a terrible and bitter experience

Ten years ago, on the second of October last, listening to my confessor's advice, I sacrificed a happy home, a beloved mother, the affection of brothers and sisters and many dear associates—sacrificed and forsook them all, that I might devote myself to the Sisters' life. This I did because the priest who was my confessor assured me that it was my duty—that I would be damned if I did not do so—if I did not become the spouse of Christ.

When I first entered the convent it was merely as a candidate. For three bitter months my disposition was tried—my pride was humbled. Hardships to which I had been never been used, I was forced to endure; the most menial labor was put upon me; I was compelled to scour knives and forks and pots and kettles, and scrub the floors and perform such labor as was most distasteful to me. One day I went to the Mother Superior and showed her my coarse, hardened hands and said to her that I was ashamed of them. "Ah," said she, "I will make you still more ashamed of them! I will humble your proud spirit yet more." And with that she conducted me into a room where some of the sisters were whitewashing and compelled me to put my hands into the boiling lime and to keep them there until the flesh was raw and the skin peeled from my fingers; then she forced me to perform even harder labor, until the flesh upon my burned and blistered fingers dropped from the bones.

But yet I did not complain. I had not yet lost my faith in my religion. I was still a Catholic. I had set my hand to the plough and would not turn back at the expense of anything or everything, save my virtue. But often, I have prayed for death. During all this time I could never hear from my friends, and even when my sister came to see me, after I had been for more than a year in the Convent, I was allowed to speak to her but ten minutes. And when I fell upon my knees before the Mother Superior and prayed that the time might be extended, I was refused. My sister had come all the way from Rhode Island to see me, (I was then at Patterson, New Jersey,) and yet I could give her nothing to eat, for when I asked the Mother Superior for food for her, I was met with the contemptuous answer, "There are plenty of restaurants in the city." It was in this way I was treated. Oh God! how I have suffered, and what suffering I have saw, particularly among those poor little orphans.

THE TERRIBLE EXAMPLE.

But worst of all was the example that I saw before me—the example that I could not help but see. To one with a mind so sensitive as my own, it was indeed revolting. My sisters, I cannot speak to you of all that I saw, but, as God is my Judge, what I tell you is the truth. I cannot tell you all the wickedness and the shame of the priests and nuns, for I would blush, as a woman, to mention it.

You may say, we see Sisters upon the streets in perfect freedom every day, if such is the case why do they not escape from this life of misery? Ah, it is not the keys and bolts of doors that retain these Sisters, who are much to be pitied and not despised, it is conscience that keeps them there. The sisters take three vows—poverty, chastity and obedience but the last of these is the principle one. No matter what they are commanded to do, the command must be obeyed. They are instructed to believe that they are not responsible for the command. No matter what it may be, even to the loss of virtue, they must obey or be damned.

For six long years I endured sufferings untold among the Sisters, being beaten by the Mother Superior and thrown down stairs, and used as a door mat for the Sisters to walk upon, because I failed to perform some disgusting act. When I entered the convent it was my desire to become a saint—to soar above all things earthly. But my idea of a saint was different from that of the Catholics, who believe that in order to be one of those blessed beings, one must mortify the body and abuse flesh and spirit. I often would deviate from the Catholic rules of praying at regular seasons and with set words, and in praying to Christ, and for this I was often punished, for it was considered almost an unpardonable sin.

One thing for which I am thankful is that I was educated in Protestant schools. My early education was in a Methodist seminary, but yet my principles were always those of a Catholic, in the fullest sense. I did wish to believe my religion true—I did wish to believe that the priests were pure and the nuns were angels, but my experience was a terrible awakening.

SISTER TERESA IS DRUGGED.

Up to this point the lecture had partaken much of the tone of a first-class Calvinistic sermon, but the remainder of her remarks partook much of variety. Miss. O'Gorman now indulging in a strain of pathos of the most agonizing description, and anon breaking forth in a ludicrous vein, that reminded us of Mark Twain's celebrated attempt to be funny under salary and—difficulties. She referred to an affecting manner to her awakening, when on an eventful Sunday evening, entering Church to remove the altar's decorations, she was met on the threshold by a priest who had, on a previous occasion, let fall upon her disgusted ear in ravishing accents, fervid protestations of his devotion to her, and had besought her with his honeyed words to flee from Romanism and become his wedded wife, but to which prayers and professions she had turned a deaf ear—she was met by this man who said to her "Sister Teresa, I see you have a bad cold. I have here a cordial prepared by Dr. Hays which I earnestly beseech you to taste, as it will no doubt relieve you." In the innocence of her unsophisticated nature she took the proffered cup, and was about, with Bacchanalian avidity, to quaff its contents, when, with the first sup and its strange, unusual taste, the terrible truth flashed upon her virgin mind—that it was drugged. Drugged! by one of those same holy priests for whose sacred office she entertained a reverence most devout, and for what cause? To accomplish a purpose, no doubt most foul—to effect a horrible crime, not to be mentioned, which might be inferred by the minds of her hearers. But, thank Providence who had prevented his terrible purpose, he was unsuccessful! That night she escaped and started for parts unknown. She knew not where she was until she found herself on board the train, bound for Philadelphia. With one dollar and twenty-five cents in her possession, she put up at the Continental Hotel, where boarding was five dollars per day. For the first time in six years she beheld her face in a mirror, and repeatedly asked the reflection in the glass, "Is that Edith O'Gorman? Is it Sister Teresa de Chantel or who is it? Am I crazy or dead?" She sent for Bishop Wood, who had formerly been a Quaker, and whose heart was full of Brotherly Love, and under the seal of the confessional, told him all about it. Father Wood said it was all right. There were many different orders of Sisters, but rather than enter any of these orders, she would advise every young girl to die or commit suicide for in that case she would only lose her life, while in the other she must part with her virtue, which was far dearer than life.

"THE NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY MEN."

The speaker continued—Men cannot live pure and some women are far worse than the men—especially Sisters. [Sensation and laughter.]

To be a good Catholic you must consider that no Protestant or "heretic" can possibly enter Heaven. She had said as many as one hundred Hail Marys in a day for the conversion of the heretics. If none but Catholics enter Heaven and those who go their are anything like the Catholics on earth, she never wanted to go to Heaven.

Miss O'Gorman then in the most approved style of Methodist pulpit oratory related the story of her conversion to Protestantism—Her feeling of unworthiness—then as she was cursing her Creator how she became suddenly filled with the majesty and grace and power of God—How she felt like shouting and jumping and what happiness filled her soul—And then how a voice had came to her saying "Daughter of sorrow arise, go forth and teach the lesson thou hast learned to a world in ignorance!" This was her mission. This accounted for her appearance as a lecturer—she who was naturally weak and timid and despised publicity, yes, was almost too fearful to speak to a stranger.

She related the manner in which she had secured aid and encouragement from Ralph Waldo Emerson, and had then gone to "Jerusalem to beard the lion in his den"—to Patterson, to encounter her enemies face to face. How nobly she had coped with insults from servant girls and eggs from the hands of the mob. She alluded briefly to the assaults made upon her at Madison, and then directed her guns at the Pittsburgh Post. She spoke of the letters recently published in that journal, which had originally been published in the New York Sun. Afterwards that sheet had published a refutation of them. Rev. Mr. Parsons, a respectable Methodist minister, had gone to the Mother Superior, and she, in shame-facedness and confusion, was compelled to say that they were untrue. Now, such Catholic papers as the Post and the Boston Pilot publish these letters although they know that they are false.

THEY WERE FALSE.

But falsehood is a virtue in the Catholic Church. (Sensation.) Why these letters and the articles of the Post had insulted not only the speaker but her audience at Library Hall. The Post says the doors of Cooper Institute were closed against her. The New York papers tell a different story. She had to lecture there on two different occasions as all could not find room in the hall the first evening. She had given two lectures to overwhelming audiences in Pike's Music Hall, Cincinatti. The Post said there were but three ladies attended her lectures there and these were of a doubtful respectibility. These articles all went to show that the Catholic Church must be very weak indeed if they could not stand the attack of one little woman. [Applause.]

In concluding, she said, it might be supposed from the fact that Miss was attached to her name, that she was not married; but she thanked God she was married. She had been for a year and a half the wife of a reverend gentleman, who was worthy and able to defend her cause against Catholics. She had sustained a terrible trial in the loss of a beautiful little boy and—there were mothers in the audience—she had not fully regained her strength. She traveled much and spoke often in the past few days and had to lecture to-night, and she needed rest. With a request to the ladies to pray for her and thanking them for their presence and attention, she then retired.

The lecture concluded, our reporter began feel anxious on the subject of getting out again. It was tedious waiting until the immense audience had left the Hall, but it was no use groaning, he had to grin and bear it. Even then, with the janitor and several of his friends, in the Hall and two or three burly policemen in the way, he began to feel that he had perhaps gotten into that bourne from which no reporter returns. By dint of much persevering effort, however, he made his escape from his place of confinement, bearing a striking resemblance to a miner after a day of, busy work; and here the curtain drops.

Miss Edith O'Gorman at Library Hall.

A by no means large audience greeted Miss O'Gorman last night on the occasion of the delivery of her fifth lecture in this city. The lecturess began by explaining how she was lecturing in opposition to Catholicism because it was her duty and no one else could do it, as no one had her experience. She then proceeded to speak on the subject of miracles, relating the well known prodigies attributed to various localities and saints, such as the peregrinations of the Chapel of Our Lady of Lorretto, the wonderful doings of St. Philip Neri, St. Ignatius Loyola and St. Maria Francisco, and these she supplemented with remarks concerning the mental condition of persons who would place implicit faith in them. She next described the celebration of a mass and explained the significance of the various symbols, ceremonies and robes of the Catholic service and priesthood, dilating at some length upon their inconsistencies and mere outward show, and evincing, we must admit, considerably more zeal than logic.

After turning over the last page of her manuscript, Miss O'Gorman remarked that she had been violently assailed in the most slanderous manner by the Post of this city, and that, contrary to her usual custom, she had consented, at the request of some of her friends, to reply to that paper. She then read portions of several articles from it, in which, in language which certainly was not characterized by the Post's whilom blandness and serenity, the lecturess was depicted in anything but flattering terms, and it was asserted that she had made written application to the Lady Superior to be taken back; that she had but three old women as audience in Cincinnati, and that the doors of Cooper Institute had been closed against her when she had desired to lecture there. Miss O'Gorman then in an impassioned manner described how she was mobbed and shot at in New Jersey, and had been slandered in all parts of the country, one anonymous correspondent writing to the New York Sun the assertion, copied by the Post, that she had applied for readmission to the convent. Then, taking her scrap book, she read, first, a telegram from the Rev. Dr. Parsons of New Jersey, published in the Sun and stating that he had called on the Lady Superior of the convent, who denied ever having heard of or received any such letters from Miss O'Gorman. Next she read a report from the N. Y. Tribune of her lecture before an immense audience in the hall of Cooper Institute, and then she read an extract from the Cincinnati Enquirer stating that Pike's Music Hall had been crowded in every part the night before by an intelligent audience assembled to listen to Miss O'Gorman. Resting her case on the documentary refutation of her enemy's assertions, she remarked that she never looked for truth in a Catholic organ, or in a Democratic organ either, for that matter, which called forth a loud burst of applause

Miss O'Gorman then stepped to the front of the stage, and, after the manner of a love feast, related her experience—how she had struggled and almost become an infidel, but had finally found peace and Christ. She then thanked her audience and bade farewell to Pittsburgh.

SUICIDE BY SHOOTING.

A Police Officer Shoots Himself Through the Heart.

Daniel Graham, an officer in the Mayor's force, on duty on beat 14, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver, at the St. Nicholas, some time yesterday. The deceased had buried several of his family recently, and had been hit with a brick in an affray on the hill, since which he was not in very sound mind. Coroner West empannelled a jury, and held an inquest last night. The following is the testimony:

Kate Shockey, sworn—Am chambermaid at St. Nicholas Hotel; I first discovered the deceased about six o'clock this evening. I was in his bedroom about nine o'clock this morning; the deceased was down stairs at that time; I think he went to bed between nine and ten A. M.; the deceased has been drinking very hard for some time; I have frequently seen him under the influence of liquor.

T. F. Chalfant, sworn—Am proprietor of St. Nicholas Hotel; the deceased came to board with me about the 1st of March; as far as I know about him, he was an upright man and honest, he was a very sober man up to the time he had a fuss on the hill with Bull White; I think he had the fuss with him in the month of April last; after the fuss he spreed around for about a month and took two fits in the meantime; sobered up and was on the force up till about a month ago; has been drinking hard ever since; I saw him about 12:50 to-day, I asked him how he was and he told me he felt better, as his neck was not so sore.

J. W. Quick, sworn—Am a police officer; I identified the deceased as Daniel Graham; he is a widower and has a son living in Allegheny about nineteen years of age; he buried his wife about a year and a half ago; he has a brother-in-law in Allegheny by the name of Dunlap.

Alex. Aiken, sworn—About six and a half o'clock this evening Mr. Chalfant came in and told me there was a dead man in his house; I went up to his room and found him laying on the bed. I examined the body; found his left hand thrown out and found a revolver lying near his side; noticed some blood on the breast of his shirt; pulled his shirt open and found what I supposed to be a bullet hole, immediately under his breast bone; I then notified the landlord that I supposed he had shot himself and went and notified the coroner.

James Duffy, sworn—Am bar-tender; have been rooming with deceased about two weeks; the deceased was in bed when I got up this morning; for the last several nights he has been in the habit of getting up and walking around the room and groaning; he complained of the quinsey; he was down stairs this afternoon.

The inquest here concluded, and after brief deliberation the jury returned a verdict of death by suicide.

Lots on Fifth Avenue.

The lots to be sold on Saturday the 21st, at 2 o'clock P. M. are located on the upper side of the road opposite the Oakland Car Station, and are beautifully situated, and are far superior to any lots now being offered so convenient to the city. The location being such that the atmosphere is free from all dampness that prevades so much of the property contiguous to the river, and on low lands.

This property has advantages both present and prospective that should not fail to command the attention of all wishing to buy, whether for a home or on speculation. The location is very desirable—the completion of the new Market House is also a great advantage to property on the line of Fifth avenue towards East Liberty, and especially in the vicinity of Oakland. The new Park improvements will also enhance the value of property in this vicinity. A free excursion will be given on the Oakland Street Cars on day of sale to all wishing to attend, and our advice to all would be to go, and not let pass so favorable an opportunity of securing a splendid lot in so good a location.

ALLEGHENY COUNCILS.

Special Meeting Last Evening—Action on Unfinished Business, &c.

A special meeting of Allegheny Councils was held last evening, in the Council Chambers.

SELECT COUNCIL.

JAMES MCBRIER ..... President.
J. R. OXLEY ..... Clerk.

The President stated that the special meeting had been called for the purpose of taking action on unfinished business.

The members present were as follows: Messrs. Hall, Heagy, Huckenstine, Kirkpatrick, Megraw, Matthews, Moul, Omsler, Patterson, Thompson, Riddle, Schoyer and President McBrier.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The unfinished business of the Common Councils was taken up, all of which was concurred in except the following:

Report of the Committee on Wharves and Landings, in regard to ground in front of Ellsworth engine house, authorizing the committee to advertise for proposals for making wharf, &c., in C. C. October 12, 1871, adopted. S. C. concur in receiving report, and amend by requiring committee to report cost.

Another report from the Committee on Wharves and Landings, authorizing a warrant in favor of Mr. Noughton & Co. for $108, in C. C. Passed. S. C. non-concur, and ask Committee of Conference. Messrs. Megraw and Hall appointed on part of S. C.

The report of the Committee on Fire Engines, in regard to a central alarm bell and tower, with resolution authorizing the committee to contract with Messrs. Gamewell, Kennard & Co., to furnish the same for $5,000. In C. C. read, received and resolution adopted. S. C. non-concur.

NEW BUSINESS.

Mr PATTERSON, petition for lamp post. Referred.

Also, a resolution instructing the Street Committee to notify the Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Manchester Railway Company not to lay a track on Western avenue, Ninth ward, without first obtaining consent of Councils.

Mr. SCHOYER, petition for a lamp post. Referred.

Mr. HEAGEY, a resolution instructing the Wharfmaster of the Western District to have the ferry landing put in good order. Passed.

Mr. PATTERSON called up the ordinance for a lateral sewer on Arch street. Passed finally.

Ordinance for grading, paving and curbing Grant avenue. Passed.

An ordinance for the opening of Mary street, laid over at a former meeting, was referred back to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. HALL, from the Committee of Conference appointed on the report of the Committee on Wharves and Landings, and resolution concerning the bill of McNoughton & Co. said that the bill for the Eighth ward was correct. He therefore moved to concur in the action of C. C. S. C. concurred.

The report of the Committee on Wharves and Landings, concerning the wharf in front of the Ellsworth Engine House, in S. C. non-concurred in. C. C. adhere to former action and ask a Committee of Conference. S. C. concur.

Report of the Committee on Streets, with resolution that the the city assume a portion of the sewer assessments against the Simpson property, in S. C. June 8, 1871, adopted, and in C. C. non-concurred in. S. C. adhere to former action and ask a Committee of Conference. Messrs. Patterson and Schoyer appointed on part of Select Council.

Adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

ALFRED SLACK ..... President
ROBERT DILWORTH ..... Clerk

Common Council assembled at eight o'clock. Members present — Messrs. Ashworth, Brown, Comley, Cooke, Dean, Gilleland, Hastings, Hughes, Knox, McNeill, Smith, Shipman, Taggart, Voegtley, Walters and President Slack.

Mr. Hastings, that the rules be suspended to admit of the consideration of any business. Carried.

ORDINANCES AND PETITIONS.

Mr. Hastings offered an ordinance to change the name of Pearl (formerly West) to James street. Read three times and passed under a suspension of the rules.

Mr. Gilleland presented a petition for a sewer on Rush alley. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Shipman, a petition for paving and grading of Western avenue, Nineteenth ward.

On motion the City Engineer was instructed to notify the contracter, to put on more men that the street be completed before winter.

Also, petition for water pipes on Superior street. Referred to Water Committee.

Mr. TAGGART, resolution for flag stone crossing at the corner of Benton alley and Buena Vista street. Referred to Street Committee.

CHICAGO RELIEF.

The Chairman read the resolution in reference to appropriating money for Chicago relief, which in last meeting had been passed unanimously in Common Council. It was returned from Select Council with a non-concurrence.

Mr. VOEGTLY—I move we recede and concur.

Mr. HASTINGS—I don't think we should crawfish or crawl backward, I believe we ought to stand on our dignity a little. We may not have as much wisdom as the "wise men" in the other branch, but what little we did have, we used in passing this resolution. We know then what we were doing. Of course, I don't say we haven't power to appropriate this money, but the Legislature can make it valid. Select Council ought to have acted on this resolution at the last meeting at once, instead of holding it off until we had adjourned. I think we now ought to stand on our dignity.

Mr. VOEGTLY—I have been talking to a number of gentlemen about this matter, and I think we have no law in this matter at all. I am in favor of an appropriation if there was a law to do it, but I don't believe that we ought to go outside of that.

Mr SHIPMAN had voted for the resolution at the last meeting. He knew there was no law, but he looked on this case as one of necessity, and necessity knew no law. If Allegheny Councils couldn't "go $25,000" for the relief of suffering humanity, she was not of much account. If they had to wait on all the old fogies who talked of "no law" and all that, they never would give relief to any one—the work and praise of a good deed would belong to others.

Mr. HASTINGS—There is talk of no law in this matter, yet Select Council in the summer could vote $800 for music in the Park. Now, where did they get authority to vote that money? They had no more "law" to do that than to vote money for Chicago.

Mr. KNOX said he had changed his views since voting for the resolution. He thought Chicago needed the money then, not now, and he could not vote for it. He suggested that it be appropriated now for the "northwestern sufferers." He would vote for a resolution of that kind.

Mr. MCNEILL favored that change.

The CHAIR decided that that the resolution in its present shape could not be amended.

The yeas and nays were called upon the motion to recede and concur, with the following result:

Ayes—Comley, Cooke, Dean, Gilleland, Knox, McNeill, McRoberts, Smith, Taggart, Voegtly, Walters—11.
Nays—Ashley, Brown, Hastings, Shipman, President—5.

Mr. MCNEILL explained that he would vote for an appropriation for the "Northwest," but otherwise be voted to recede and concur.

So C. C. receded and concurred.

Mr. HASTINGS—Sympathy dying out fast.

ANOTHER "FLY."

Mr. KNOX offered a resolution appropriating $15,000 for the sufferers in Michigan and Wisconsin.

After considerable discussion the resolution was lost by a tie vote of 8 to 8.

Adjourned.

FIFTH AVENUE BRIDGE.

What It Is to Be.

The books for subscriptions to the capital stock of this important work are now open, as will be seen by our advertising columns, and a large amount has already been subscribed. Roebling's plan—a wire suspension—has been adopted, embodying all valuable improvements known to the art in which his father, John A. Roebling, stood pre-eminent. Colonel Washington A. Roebling, whose drawings and plans are here adopted, is Engineer-in-Chief of the great East River Bridge, between New York and Brooklyn—the greatest work of the kind in the world.

Fifth avenue bridge will commence at Miltenberger street, on the Pittsburgh side, and terminate on Harmony (now Seventeenth) street, near the corner of Wharton street, on the Birmingham side. The ascending grade will be about three feet per hundred from Birmingham to the Bluff on the Pittsburgh side—a very moderate one, considering the forbidding aspect of the bluffs when viewed from the lower bank opposite. It requires three piers, and consists of two spans, of 500 feet each, and one side span of 250 feet, and one of 221 feet, making a total length between abutments of 1,471 feet.

Two of the piers are located in the river and the third will stand on the bank next to the lower end of the double lock. The masonry of piers will be carried up to high water level only, above that point iron will be used. Each pier will be 60 feet long and 20 feet wide at the base. The total height of Pittsburgh tower from low water to summit is 163 feet; Centre tower, 145; Birmingham tower, 136. From the masonry to the bridge floor the towers consist of 4 wrought iron columns, 15 inches in diameter, well braced among each other with channel bars and diagonal bolts. The columns are made up of 8 segments strengthened by stiffened pieces. Above the roadway the frame work of the towers consist of wrought iron columns, likewise stiffened by lattice work and the ornamental work which crowns the summit, and a handsome gothic arch connects each pair of towers above the railway. There will be a double roadway of 13 feet wide between the fenders, and two ample side walks outside the cable. The framing throughout will be of wrought iron. Two steel wire cables will support the structure. Each cable will consist of seven steel wire ropes, each 2½ inches in diameter. The aggregate strength of the two will be 2,240 tons. The seven ropes form a cable 7½ inches in diameter. The bridge will be stiffened, as well supported, by a set of overhand stay of wire rope, eight in number, extending 140 feet from each tower.

The appearance of the bridge will be bold and striking, as well as highly picturesque, owing to the favorite surroundings. The period of construction need not exceed two years, and may be reduced, as Pittsburgh offers every facility for the execution of such structures, and the total cost of this structure will be but $300,000.

RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERERS.

The Movement in Aid of Chicago—Action of the Ladies—Physicians' Delegation—More Contributions.

The Trustees of the Relief Fund held their regular meeting at the Mayor's office yesterday morning.

The Mayor announced that he had thirty packages ready to send to Detroit. The clothing in this lot was probably the best that had been sent away, and as good as would be sent at any time from any point.

Mr. Jones handed in $406, which had been subscribed for Chicago.

The Mayor read the following dispatch, which had been sent by him to the Mayor of Milwaukee:

"Our citizens wish to send money and clothing to the sufferers by the Wisconsin fires; will you receive and distribute the contributions? JARED M. BRUSH, Mayor."

The following answer was received:

"MILWAUKEE, Wis., October 19, 1871.

"Jared M. Brush, Mayor of Pittsburgh—If you have goods ready, I will receive them. Our immediate wants, except in money, are being supplied.

"H. LUDINGTON, Mayor."

Mr. Harper wished all to understand that no contributions sent in for Chicago were diverted to the use of the Michigan and Wisconsin sufferers. All were to be aided, according to the wish of the contributors.

Mr. Barr suggested that a certain portion of the fund raised be retained here, for the use of destitute Chicago families who would be here from time to time, during the winter.

Mrs. Aldrine, from Allegheny, was introduced, and stated that a man, his wife and two children had been sent to her house from the depot by a policeman of Allegheny, and she desired money to assist in providing for them. She and her husband had undertaken to provide as well as they could for two families, and they had kept them since Sunday. One family wished to go to house-keeping and desired money to assist in doing this. The husband had found work as a tailor.

The lady was directed to apply to the Mayor of Allegheny for the necessary relief.

Mr. Barr offered the following:

Resolved, That the Chairmen of the Relief Committees of Pittsburgh and Allegheny are requested to adopt a co-operative system, by which the sufferers from Chicago coming to either of the two cities may be relieved.

Adopted.

It was stated that conductors on the railroads had been instructed not to lift passes from Chicago to Pittsburgh, but consider them good from here to the East.

The Committee adjourned.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

The following are the cash receipts yesterday:

Edith O'Gorman, proceeds of benefits October 14	$200 00
Employes of Byers, McCullough & Co.	406 00
Employes of James B. Lyon & Co.	212 15

Following are yesterday's contributions to the Michigan Fund:

Mrs. M. Mazet, Bellfield	15 00
Wm. Annan	10 00
High School Faculty	61 00

The following additional contributions of clothing, etc., were handed in:

Mrs. Margaret Mawhinney, 1 basket clothing; Mrs. Wm. Holmes, 1 pkge do.; Unknown, 2 do; Mr. Herman Brod, Schenly Station, box crackers and box clothing; C. Logue, 2 bbls bread; N. H. Knox, clothing; Logan & Gregg, box brass and tin kettles; Mrs. Judge Stowe, 2 boxes assorted clothing; Mrs. Henry Holdship, 2 bundles shoes and clothing; Drs. Robinson and Jones, 4 pkgs and 1 bbl of clothing; Mrs. Margaret Onsburg, clothing; Mrs. Richard Hays, clothing and sundries.

PHYSICIANS IN COUNCIL.

On last Friday the Allegheny County Homeopathic Association held a meeting, and appointed Drs. J. C. Burgher and J. F. Cooper delegates to proceed to Chicago and ascertain the need of the physicians of their peculiar system in that city, arising from their losses by the recent fire. They are expected to return, at the farthest, by Monday next—perhaps to-day—and will report at a called meeting what action is best to be taken.

THE LADIES

at the Christian Association Rooms continue their good work. They need all the co-operation that can possibly be afforded, and we hope the ladies throughout the city will not fail to afford it.

THE office force of Mayor Brush's office are still busily engaged in packing and marking boxes of goods for Chicago, Wisconsin and Michigan sufferers.

IN ALLEGHENY.

A dispatch was received yesterday morning by Mayor Callow, from J. Harvey Jones, Chairman of the Relief Committee in Chicago, stating that the services of the squad of carpenters, who have volunteered to go to Chicago and assist in erecting temporary houses, will be greatly acceptable. The Mayor therefore desires that those willing to go report at his office at nine o'clock Saturday, when transportation will be given.

Mrs. B. B. Campbell, of the Ladies' Committee in Allegheny, desires that all ladies able and willing to assist in working for the relief of the sufferers by the northwestern fires, will join those who meet from day in Dr. Swift's Church, on Arch street. A great amount of clothing, &c., has already been sent away, but a large and increasing quantity of material is on hand to be made up, and all the help that can be obtained is needed.

THE Executive Committee of Allegheny city appeal for voluntary contributions to the Relief Fund.

SEVENTH WARD, Allegheny, furnishes a contribution of $176 for the Chicago Relief Fund.

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—JUDGE M'CANDLESS.

In the case of the United States vs. William Lippincott, indicted for carrying on the business of a liquor dealer without paying the special tax, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

In the bankruptcy case of J. K. Clanschan vs. John N. Baird, an argument was heard, when the jury found that the facts set forth in the specifications are true.

United States vs. Ephraim Bigony, of Lock Haven, Clinton county, indicted for selling cigars from unstamped boxes. On trial.

United States against—

Michael Biglin, resisting and obstructing a U. S. Marshal; Wm. Giger, retail liquor dealer without payment of special tax; Engbert Jacobs, same offense; Giles S. Robinson, same offense; Frederick Faux, same offense; Frederick Faux, emptying cask of distilled spirits without effacing stamp; Adam Weber, not making entries of purchases and sales, rectifying without payment of special tax, and changing packages without reguaging; Northrop R. THE M'CREADY HOMICIDE.

A Woman on Trial for Stamping and Beating Her Husband to Death.

Yesterday, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judges Sterrett and Collier on the bench, Eliza McCready, indicted for the murder of Andrew McCready, her husband, was placed on trial. The circumstances of the alleged murder may be briefly stated as follows: The prisoner and her husband lived together on a farm in Robinson township. The husband was quite an old man—upwards of ninety years of age—while his wife has numbered about forty years. The pair, it is said has frequently quarreled, and often they would fight about very trifling matters. On the 16th of last June, it is alleged, the husband was churning and accidentally spilled some milk. This enraged his wife to such an extent that she struck him. The old man retaliated by striking his assailant with his hand, whereupon, as the Commonwealth claims, the prisoner knocked the deceased down with a stone, jumped on his breast and stamped him with her feet, inflicting injuries from which he died. After the assault the old man managed to crawl to a neighbor's house, where his death occurred on the 23d of June. The pair had not lived happily together for a number of years, because of jealousy on the part of the husband.

After the injuries had been inflicted, and previous to the death of McCready, an information was made before Justice Edmundson, of Robinson township, charging Mrs. McCready with felonious assault and battery. Upon this charge she was arrested and committed to jail, but was subsequently released on bail. After the death of McCready, the Coroner held an inquest, and upon the finding of the jury he committed the prisoner to await the action of the court.

The case was called at 11 A. M., the prisoner appearing in court accompanied by her two children, the oldest a little girl of about six years and the youngest an infant, probably not a year old.

Messrs. McCormick, Gibson and Bayne appeared for the defense, and District Attorney Pearson and W. C. Moreland, for the prosecution.

Mr. McCormick, counsel for the defense, excepted to the indictment on the ground that there had been no information made charging the prisoner with murder. He said that the only information that appeared in the record was that taken by Justice Edmundson, which charged the prisoner with felonious assault and battery. Counsel made the point that an indictment for murder could not be framed upon an information that did not charge that offense.

Messrs. Pearson and Moreland, for the Commonwealth, contended that the indictment was passed upon the finding of the coroner's jury.

Mr. McCormick contended that the action of the coroner was not sufficient ground for the framing of the indictment, because in that case the defendant would be deprived of a legal right—that of a hearing.

The Court decided that the coroner's inquest was equivalent to a hearing. But there was no use of a hearing in a case like this, as the coroner had no power to admit the prisoner to bail.

The prisoner was then arraigned in due form, when the following jurors were called to try the case:

John Kaltchtheler, Henry Brown, J. S. Pickel, Michael Hoch, Henry Gobber, John Helm, Joseph Snyder, Albert Crawford, Philip Brown, Daniel Swogger, Samuel Kerr and John Russell.

The testimony on the part of the Commonwealth had not been concluded at the time of adjournment.

A Yacht Story.

The New York Evening Post says: Once upon a time there was a Yankee topsail-schooner on its way to Leghorn, which encountered an English nobleman's yacht on a pleasure cruise in the Mediterranean. John Bull bantered the Yankee for a trial of speed, and the Yankee "sailed" John Bull almost "out of sight." Miler was greatly astonished at the result, and invited the victorious skipper to come on board and join him in a bottle of wine. The invitation was accepted, and as they sat opposite to each other, the Englishman generously proposed Brother Jonathan's health, adding: "I say, captain, this is the first time my yacht was ever beaten, you know" "Wal!" said the Yankee captain, "that's kinder singler, for I vow this is the first time my craft ever beat anything." It may perhaps seem ungracious to recall this story in connection with the yacht race of yesterday; but might it not be well for our English commodore to stipulate that in future races the New York boats should not get out of sight of him? You can't well race with a boat if you can't see it, you know.
